GUESTS UPSET LAMP IN DANCE

Dancers Made Human Torches by Explosion in Boarding House.

SIX BADLY BURNED

Proprietor Jumped from Second Story and His Wife Was Fatally Injured.

MAD RUSH MADE TO ESCAPE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

New Castle, Pa., July 30.—The explosion of a kerosene lamp at a Slavonic boarding house here tonight during a dance caused fatal injury of one person and the serious injury of five others. The injured are:

MRS. MIKE BOLITSKY, wife of the proprietor, deeply burned all over. She is in the hospital with no possible chance of recovery.

MIKE BOLITSKY, proprietor of the boarding house, badly burned over head and body, right ear almost torn off and head injured in jumping from second story.

JOHN BOLITSKY, brother of the proprietor, terribly burned over face, chest and abdomen, found almost crazed by pain in a field adjoining the boarding house.

PETER BOLITSKY, brother of the proprietor, burns on all parts of the body.

MIKE GUYWISKI, arm fractured jumping from second story, burned over one-third of his body.

JOE KNIVOSK, badly burned over face, chest and arms.

One or two others suffered trifling burns. The accident occurred late tonight at No. 27 Preston avenue, in a five-room frame boarding house, occupied by fully 25 Slavs. The celebration became tumultuous, and the violent merrymaking caused the frail structure to shake to its foundations. When the hilarity was at its height the lamp was pushed over by the dancers in their excitement. With a crash it exploded, sending flames over nearly a score of unfortunates.

Some beat the flames out and escaped with slight injuries, while those nearest were so saturated with the inflammable material as to be turned into veritable human torches.

In the mad rush to escape Mike Bolitski and Mike Guywiski jumped from the second story while the others ran downstairs and out into the open. A fire alarm called two departments and the building was saved with a loss of not over $100.

PAYNE AND PRESIDENT DISCUSSED THE SCANDAL

Various Phases of the Post-office Trouble Were Talked About at Sagamore Hill.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, L. I., July 30.—Postmaster General Payne and his wife reached here this morning after a cruise of a week along the North Atlantic coast. The postmaster general remained at Sagamore Hill until late in the afternoon. The postal fraud investigation was gone over but no important developments are looked for as a result of the conference.

Mr. Payne's health, it is understood, has been greatly improved by the cruise, and for the present, it is said, he will not consider giving up his place in the cabinet.

Prof. Jerome Barker Lanafield of the University of California, was also a guest at Sagamore Hill. He is a teacher of history and is just returning from a long stay abroad. He is said to be a close observer and will, it is understood, give to the president some of the results of his observations on contemporaneous European politics.

General Young, who is to take General Miles' place as chief of the general staff, when the latter retires next month, came to town this morning to visit friends. During his stay he will call at Sagamore Hill.

The burning Golden Gate Hotel, Nome, in which the Pittsburghers perished. This photograph was taken five minutes after the first alarm was turned in after the fire broke out at 5:10 Sunday morning, July 5. At 5:30 the entire structure was in ashes. The building to the right is the Nome postoffice, which was saved with difficulty. It was at this point in the fire that Lynn Wherry, of Scenery Hill, made his escape from the building and rescued his room mate, Charles Thomas of Apollo.

SIMON BURNS GETS RAISE FOR HIS MEN

Window Glass Workers Given Ten Per Cent Advance.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Columbus, O., July 30.—At a joint conference of window glass manufacturers and Simon Burns, a representative of the Window Glass Workers' association, held here tonight, a 10 per cent increase in the existing wage scale was granted. The advance affects 10,000 men, employed in Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Illinois, Indiana, West Virginia and Kansas, constituting 90 per cent of the window glass workers of the country.

The increase will go into effect October 1, when the plants will be fired. Ordinarily the season has opened September 1, but on account of the large supply of the manufactured product now on hand, the manufacturers agreed today to delay the opening one month.

Simon Burns of the Window Glass Workers' association said tonight the men he represents would have received a more substantial increase in wages for next year were it not for labor disturbances in New York, Chicago and other large building centers. He said that the manufacturers could not be expected to grant a heavy advance in the wage scale in view of the present disturbed conditions, since the numerous strikes have curtailed the amount of building done and since the outlook for the coming year indicates a reduced volume of business.

Mr. Burns, who was the only representative of the workers, held out for a 10 per cent increase. Leopold Marbourg, secretary of the Federation Window Glass Company, presided over the joint conference. The other manufacturers present were: J. R. Scobey, Mathews, Ind.; B. Frank, Clarksburg, Pa.; J. G. Mayer, Ft. Pleasant, Pa.; J. Martin, Gas City, Ind.; Octave Jacquain, Mathews, Ind.

YOUNGSON FILLED HIS OFFICE THIRTEEN DAYS

His Right to Appoint Shay Before His Death Is Questioned—Dead Chief Engineer Was Formerly of Pittsburgh.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

Meadville, Pa., July 30.—Almon B. Youngson, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, died this morning at the City hospital, where he had been since June 20. Brights disease was the cause of death. Deceased was born in Pittsburgh, March 20, 1844, and began his career as a railroad man in this city in 1862, when he became an employe of the Atlantic and Great Western railroad shops. He became a fireman in 1864 and an engineer in 1866. In 1890 he was elected first assistant grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and succeeded to the position of grand chief engineer on the death of Chief P. M. Arthur on July 17, this year, holding the position 13 days. Mr. Youngson was a widower, his wife dying November 4, 1894. Three children survive: Mrs. B. H. Warren, Youngstown, O.; Miss Elizabeth Youngson and William C. Youngson, both of this city. He is also survived by his aged mother, one brother and two sisters.

M. H. Shay of Youngstown, O., who was yesterday nominated by Grand Chief A. B. Youngson to act as his successor, is in the city and will remain until after Chief Youngson's funeral tomorrow afternoon. Shay will serve as grand chief until the next national convention. He is 60 years of age.

CLEVELAND, July 30.—A meeting of the grand officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will be held here within a few days to elect a new grand chief and assistant grand chief to succeed P. M. Arthur and A. B. Youngson, deceased. The fact that Mr. Youngson just before his death nominated H. M. Shay of Youngstown as first assistant grand chief will have no effect, according to authorities, as the board of grand officers had no chance to confirm his nomination before the death of the grand chief.

A FATAL MISTAKE.

Kentucky Husband Shoots His Wife, Thinking She Was a Burglar.

FULTON, KY., July 30.—Mistaking his wife for a burglar, Charles Binsford fatally shot her at 2 o'clock this morning. Physicians say she cannot recover. Mr. and Mrs. Binsford are among the most prominent young people of the city.

Mrs. Binsford was awakened by a burglar trying to get in a window and called to her husband. He did not awake and she went to the window and again called to Binsford. He being about half awake, thought that she was the burglar and fired.

ALLEGHENY MAN DROWNED NEAR ST. CLAIR, MICHIGAN

ST. CLAIR, MICH., July 30.—Peter Schlater, a member of the Hemlock Hunting and Fishing club of Allegheny, which is in camp a few miles from here, was drowned in the river late this afternoon. Schlater, with three companions, were sailing down the stream when the boat was capsized and he was lost in the current before help could reach him.

Peter Schlater is given in the city directory as a roomer at No. 547 Lowrie street, Allegheny. He was a clerk.

CAN CURE TYPHOID IN TWELVE HOURS

No. 244 Ferdinand Street,
Chicago, Ill.,
July 29, 1903.

To the Health Department, Pittsburgh, Pa.:

You can call me a crank, or what you like. I. A. J. Briggs, can cure typhoid fever in less than 12 hours, and no mistake. Give me a chance and you will never regret it. A. J. BRIGGS.

The above postal card, received in Pittsburgh yesterday, explains itself so far as it goes. It also proves that the fame of this city's germ-infected water supply is widespread.

SHORTENING HER DAYS.

Pathetic Appeal of Mother of a Man Murdered in the West.

ST. LOUIS, MO., July 30.—(Special.)—"I am getting old. My son's awful death is shortening my days on earth. I will never die content until I know who the murderer was and what his object was in shooting my boy."

This is part of a pathetic plea for justice received by Brother Gideon of the Christian Brothers college in a letter from Mrs. Mary Cox of Titusville, Pa., the mother of Cox, the athletic trainer at the college, who was foully murdered by a footpad several weeks ago.

"I am Tom's mother," she writes, "and Tom always had so many friends I would not think they would ever see him killed the way he was after he had been there so long. I hope and pray to God that the terrible murderer will be found and meet his doom sooner or later."

Two Women Found Dead.

BALTIMORE, MD., July 30.—Mrs. Elizabeth Mechtold and her daughter, Miss Pauline Mechtold, aged 50, were found dead in a room at their home in this city today. They had been asphyxiated by gas and had evidently died two days ago.

CROWDS BROKE THE RECORDS

Enormous Throng Visited Camp William McKinley on Governor's Day.

MAGNIFICENT REVIEW

Words of Praise Given Second Brigade for Its Soldierly Appearance.

TIME OF FESTIVITY TONIGHT

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Camp William McKinley, Somerset, Pa., July 30.—When the sunset gun tonight thundered the finale of governor's day, the greatest crowd that ever graced an encampment of the Second brigade and the greatest Somerset ever saw, slowly withdrew from the broad parade ground at Camp William McKinley. When the stars and stripes slipped down their halyards, 3,000 tired but happy guardsmen returned to their quarters, signalizing the opening of the most elaborate festivities this ancient town has known.

From the starlit camp ground comes tonight an inspiring medley of martial music mingled with the war songs of sunbrowned veterans of the Spanish service, whose revelry is being held in reunions in three commands. The beauty and the chivalry of Western Pennsylvania is gathered in the ball room where the officers of the Sixteenth regiment are tendering a reception to Governor Pennypacker and his staff and the officers of the brigade. Tomorrow's sunrise will view scenes of busy preparation for the breaking of a memorable camp. On Saturday morning the last detail of soldiers will leave Somerset.

Twelve thousand spectators this afternoon surrounded the parade ground to watch Gen. Wiley's troops march in review before the governor. For more than an hour Pennsylvania's chief executive stood in his carriage and watched the guardsmen pass. He had a word of praise for every regiment, for Battery B and for the Sheridan troop. Tonight little restraint is placed upon the men and good cheer reigns supreme.

Crowd Came With Dawn.

At dawn the visitors commenced to arrive. All southwestern Pennsylvania was represented. From the countryside farmers drove in their best turnouts to see the governor and to watch the military review. The ring covered an expanse of 20 acres adjoining the parade ground and here the spectators sat for eight hours, dining from lunch boxes and sutlers' stands. Eight special trains with over 60 crowded coaches brought 6,000 visitors at noon, Pittsburgh being largely represented in the throng.

At 2 o'clock Governor Pennypacker in an open carriage, with Adjutant General Stewart and Major General Miller, rode out upon the field. So great was the crowd that pressed around the governor's

WILD SCENES AT NEGRO MEETING

Rowdies Break Up Assemblage Where Booker Washington Spoke.

RAZORS FREELY USED

Police Were Called to Quell a Serious Riot in Boston Church.

TWO ARRESTS WERE MADE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Boston, July 30.—A meeting of colored people, addressed by Booker T. Washington in Zion church, Columbus avenue, tonight, resulted in a riot, during which a dozen policemen interfered, made two arrests and in a measure restored quiet, but not until razors had been flourished and umbrellas freely used. One of the women, sister of a man now under arrest, made effective use of a hat pin, which she jabbed into the neck of a policeman with such force that he was obliged to drop his prisoner, Bernard Charles, one of the most riotous of the disturbers.

Charles is under arrest at the City hospital, with a gash in his head five inches long, and Granville Martin and William Trotter are locked up at Station 5. Maud Trotter, who did such brilliant work with the hatpin, was released.

Mr. Washington and his friends declare that it was a pre-arranged attempt on the part of the publishers of the Guardian, a negro organ, to break up the meeting, and that it was unsuccessful. There were fully 2,000 people in the church when the meeting began with William H. Lewis, the recently-appointed United States assistant district attorney, as chairman, and Dr. Thomas Fortune of New York was introduced. He met with opposition at once and ushers stationed in the aisles for that purpose promptly ejected the disturber, but he was later allowed to return.

Fortune described the proceeding as outrageous, and intimated that at the colored convention in St. Louis, the Boston delegation were spanked. There was not much trouble after that until Mr. Washington was introduced, and somebody cried out:

"We don't want to hear you, Booker Washington, we don't like you. Your views and aims are not those we think best for our race!"

"Put him out!"

"Throw him out the window!"

"Police!"

Officers came from all over the place. A dozen police rushed in and grabbed the disturber, and the latter's friends joined in the fight. In a statement issued after the meeting, Mr. Washington said that notwithstanding the trouble that had been made by a few rowdies, the meeting was one of the most successful he had ever held in Boston.

MURPHY ADMITS THE TWO CITIES SHOULD BE ONE

Former Recorder of Allegheny Recommends Viewers and Commissioners to Adjust the Basis of Consolidation.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Mt. Clemens, Mich., July 30.—Democratic as ever, refusing to express intentions to settle any old political scores, John Murphy is just the same. With a crutch and a cane he came into the assembly room of the bath house this afternoon, where he sat for an hour cooling off after his bath. He is sorely afflicted with rheumatism, from his knees down; his physician tells me he does not yet know what the outcome will be; but Murphy says he's all right, and will be fishing again in a few days.

When the subject of politics was broached, he said:

"I won't do anything for a year; and at the end of that time if I do go back into politics, I will not be a candidate for anything."

"That being the case, have you anyone in mind whom you will support for office?"

"No; that would be impossible. I am in favor of the consolidation of the cities; but in saying so, I wouldn't like to see it happen until the present mayors have been allowed to fill out their terms and rounded out whatever policies they may have. Then I would like to see the leaders come together and decide on consolidation."

"How would you reconcile the difference between the bonded indebtedness of the two big cities, with reference to the objections of Allegheny property owners?"

"I would suggest the appointment, legally, of a board of viewers and commissioners, consisting of competent men from each city, to pass upon and settle the basis of consolidation from that and every other standpoint; which in all probability would have to be authorized by an act of legislature, that would possibly comprehend an amendment of the greater city bill. And I would suggest that if such a plan does go back to the legislature, that there be embodied a provision that compels its ratification by popular vote."

"If that were the case, your suggestion could not be taken up in two years; it could not go before the people for a year after that; isn't that a long time to wait?"

"Yes; it seems so, but the people need time to think. So far as I know, they are not ready yet to decide on a basis of consolidation that is acceptable to everybody."

During the conversation that ensued, I asked Mr. Murphy if he knew to what personal trait of character or other element or influence he could attribute his political success.

"I don't know," he said. "The only thing I ever did, so far as I know, was to stick to my friends and to make my word good."

Mrs. Murphy is taking her husband's condition very cheerfully, under the circumstances. Except when he is in the bathhouse, she is his constant attendant and never leaves him. He expects to throw away his cane and crutch "in a week, and I heard him promise one of the athletes, who is in training here, that he would run him a foot race.

MR. SCHWAB GOES TO ATLANTIC CITY TODAY

Declines to Discuss Rumor of His Resignation Again in Circulation.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, will leave for Atlantic City tomorrow. His stay at the shore is as indefinite as his visit here has been.

Mr. Schwab, while in Philadelphia, has declined to see newspaper men. He instructed the clerks at his hotel to say that he was enjoying a rest and that the stock market, and collateral matters of commercial interests would not be discussed by him.

Afternoon papers carried a dispatch to the effect that Mr. Schwab would resign next Tuesday his presidency of the Steel Corporation. When asked tonight to confirm or deny the statement, Mr. Schwab sent word that he was much gratified at the opportunity to satisfy public curiosity, but, "I have retired," he added.

CARDINALS DISPLEASED

Not Satisfied With Cells in Which They Are to Vote for Pope.

UNFIT FOR OLD MEN

Wealthy Primate of Hungary Insists on Taking His Meals Outside Sistine Chapel.

VOTING IS TO BEGIN TODAY

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

Rome, July 30.—The concluding funeral services for Pope Leo took place today. The cardinals also held the last of the assemblies customary after a sovereign pontiff's demise. They will participate tomorrow morning in a service of prayer, during which an appeal will be made to the Almighty for the inspiration of the Holy Ghost in the sacred college's election of a new pope.

The cardinals, their secretaries, valets, cooks, barbers and the other officials who will enter the conclave apartments tomorrow afternoon number 250 persons, who will remain absolutely isolated from the outer world until the new pope has been selected.

A rumor has been circulated to the effect that in arranging apartments necessary for the conclave much damage has been caused to the paintings of Pinturicchio. It is impossible to verify the report, as no one is now allowed to enter the rooms reserved for the conclave.

The cardinals today visited their cells, and it cannot be said that they are very enthusiastic over the idea of being confined, perhaps for some time, in what are rightly termed "cells," which are without running water and necessary ventilation. It was feared that the health of some of the older and more feeble cardinals might suffer.

Perhaps the most dissatisfied was Cardinal Maszary, who, as primate of Hungary, is the wealthiest of the cardinals. He is credited with an income of $400,000 annually. He insists that he cannot eat with the others and must have his meals outside.

It is reported that Count Soderini was entrusted by Pope Leo with the task of writing the history of his pontificate, enjoining upon him the fact that he wished a true history, and not a eulogy.

Cardinal Oreglia explained how the work of the conclave was to be carried on, recalling the principal rules which were to govern the body and recommending their strict observance.

Cardinals Sanminitelli, Macchi and Della Volpe were charged with the duty of visiting the apartments of the conclave, and Cardinals Tripoti and Boschi with visiting the precincts of the conclave for the purpose of making sure that there will be no possibility of communication with the outside world.

The question of compensation to be given to the physicians who treated the late pontiff during his last illness was also discussed in the congregation. The executors of the will said that the money remaining after the charitable bequests left by Pope Leo are paid would be only about $4,000. This sum was considered insufficient, and a commission of cardinals was instructed to augment it to such an amount as might seem appropriate.

FORMER PREACHER NOW HELD AS A ROBBER

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, July 30.—(Special.)—A. L. Blazer, a former minister of the Methodist church, was today identified as a robber. He is being held on a charge of having held up a street car in Salt Lake City on July 15. Blazer is now a private in the Twelfth United States infantry, stationed at Fort Douglas, on the outskirts of the city.

Some years ago he became involved in an affair with a woman and left the church. Since then he has plunged into extremes of dissipation. The street car robbery was committed by a single masked man. The conductor identified Blazer today as the robber.

GERMANY WILL STAND ALONE

Deep Anxiety Felt at Berlin Over New Commission of Powers.

GOVERNMENT IS TO BLAME

Lack of Fixed Aim by Kaiser's Ministry Has Permitted of an Alliance Between Russia, England and France Which Worries the Kaiser.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, July 30.—In spite of the apparent unconcern of the official press, which, with a most suspicious nervousness continues to assure the people that the German government is exceedingly well satisfied with the entente cordiale which has sprung up between England and France, it is far from succeeding in concealing that there is a deep anxiety felt in official circles on account of Germany's isolated position. While the old German-Austrian-Italian triple alliance weakened, every day a new powerful commission of powers arises threateningly in the political horizon.

Though there is no official alliance between the countries it is clear to all that every day draws England, France, Italy and Russia closer in an alliance which leaves Germany absolutely isolated, as not even Austria can be counted upon. The German people realize that the government is not without blame in having caused this delicate situation.

The policy of the empire from its very birth has been without any fixed goal, no single aim has been constantly in view, as is always done by Russia, whose policy was really mapped out even in details by Peter the Great, two centuries ago. After Bismarck's brutal and brusque methods, which culminated in his bringing about the Franco-Prussian war, we have now Kaiser Wilhelm's extreme suavity and politeness toward foreign powers which harmonizes very poorly with the German character, and which is coupled with continued oneness to bring the army and navy to the highest perfection.

It cannot be denied that the political equilibrium of Europe has been disturbed by President Loubet's visit to England. France, which has now entirely recovered from her losses, now occupies the post formerly held by Germany, as the most wooed European power. The impression here is that if France did not have such a deep respect for the German army and did not carry so many Russian loans, she would not hesitate in forming a great coalition against Germany in the hope of crushing the kaiser, as she herself was crushed in 1871.

If the anxiety of the kaiser had not been noticed before, it was plainly shown by his recent visit to the late Pope Leo and by his so much criticised friendliness to the United States.

It was recently said European peace has its best guarantee in the strength of the German army, and it is never overlooked here that if Germany were weak her foes would fall upon her immediately. Now, it is true, the German army is powerful, but the possibility of an alliance between Russia, France and England, is looming up and is doing more than anything else to disturb the kaiser's peace offerings.

RAIDERS STILL FREE.

Cuban Officials Unable to Capture Leaders of Recent Uprising.

HAVANA, July 30.—(Special.)—Rural guards are thoroughly threshing the agitated districts of Santiago de Cuba, but thus far have not caught a glimpse of the raiders. The American minister, Mr. Squires, is alive to the situation, getting all the reliable information available.

The fact that the men participating in the uprising have not been arrested is regarded as a bad omen for the government. Gen. Rodriguez, the commander of the rurals, is mystified. President Palma believes in the loyalty of the Cubans, and says the present incident will prove insignificant.

JOHN KEATING GREETED BY NEW YORK IRISHMEN

NEW YORK, July 30.—John T. Keating, of Chicago, formerly national president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, was given a reception by the Cian-Na-Gael tonight at Cooper union. Mr. Keating, who arrived from Ireland today, delivered the address at the annual pilgrimage to the grave of the leader of the United Irishmen, Theobald Wolfe Tone, at Bodenstown, Ireland, on June 21, and was attacked for his speech by the organs of the parliamentary party, which declared that Mr. Keating did not speak as the representative of anyone in America. Tonight's meeting was intended as an answer to that charge which was formally denied by the adoption of resolutions.

RIOTERS ARE ANARCHISTS SAYS GOVERNOR YATES

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., July 30.—Gov. Richard Yates, in an address today to the Seventh infantry of the state militia, two battalions of which have been stationed at Danville, said: "The men who composed the mobs which attacked the jails at Belleville and Danville, and who in the former city took out a defenseless negro and hanged him, and who at Danville made a similar attempt, and who did capture and hang and then burn a defenseless negro, who had killed another man, are nothing but anarchists."

Services for Deaf Mutes.

The Rev. Austin W. Mann, general missionary in charge of deaf mute missions, will officiate at St. Margaret's mission in the chapel of Trinity church, Sixth avenue, near Smithfield street, next Tuesday at 7:45 p. m. At the close of the service he will leave for Johnstown to represent the church mission to deaf mutes at the nineteenth convention of the Pennsylvania Association for the Advancement of the Deaf. The convention will be held on the 5th, 6th and 7th. About 300 alumni of the Philadelphia and Edgewood institutions are expected to attend the convention.

Murdered While Asleep.

PUEBLO, COL., July 30.—Leroy R. Masterson, a foreman at the steel works, was murdered last midnight while asleep. Suspicion rests on members of a gang of laborers of which the dead man had charge and 16 of them have been arrested. Masterson had trouble with some of the employes the previous night and discharged three men. The weapon used was a shovel.

Says They Stole Goods.

Simon Harsky, George Domiku and Steve Motkiski, all of West Market street, Allegheny, were given a hearing last night before Alderman Humphrey Lynch on a charge of larceny, preferred by John Braglowsky. The latter, who is a second-hand furniture dealer, alleges that after he had bought Harsky's furniture he, with the other defendants, carried some of it away. Harsky gave $500 bail to await a decision and the others were discharged.

Local Bank Clerk Dead.

ERIE, PA., July 30.—(Special.)—Lawrence Nash Clarke, of Erie, who had been employed in the Mellon bank, Pittsburgh, died suddenly in Parks' sanitarium in Wernersville, near Reading, this morning. He was 22 years old. He was stricken with nervous prostration in Pittsburgh. He was educated at Leland Stanford university.

Relatives Say He is Demented.

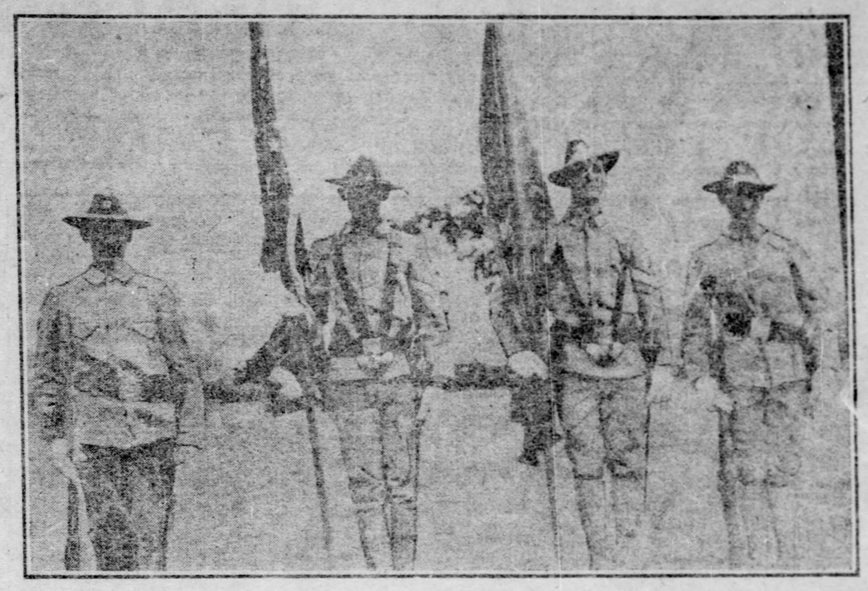
GOVERNOR'S DAY AT CAMP M'KINLEY



Color Guard of the Fourteenth Regiment.

carriage, that the service of the Sheridan troop was necessary to keep the spectators behind the flags marking the limits of the line of review. The governor with silk hat and frock coat stood up in his carriage and gravely saluted each command.

Close by was a carriage occupied by Mrs. Pennypacker, her daughter, Mrs. Lewis A. Beitler, Mrs. Samuel G. Foster and Mrs. Joseph K. Weaver. All the ladies wore military hats and evinced the liveliest interest in the big demonstration of the brigade.

First upon the field came Col. Hulings's Sixteenth infantry, memories of its campaign in Porto Rico bringing a wave of applause from the multitude. Following came the Eighteenth and the Fourteenth regiments, and this gave the signal for cheers from the Pittsburgh contingent. The Tenth and Fifth regiments both feel at home in Somerset, and were royally received. While the applause for these commands still lingered the bugles of Battery B sounded, and the four gun sections rattled up the parade ground past the reviewing stand. The tumult continued until the Sheridan troop passed and closed the afternoon's program.

New Precedent Established.

The completion this morning of the inspection of the Fifth regiment, the battery and the troop left Gov. Pennypacker with a few unoccupied hours. He filled in the interval between this work and his brigade review in the afternoon by a personal inspection of each camp. No detail was too small for his notice. He was conducted on his trip by Capt. W. C. McNary, of the brigade staff. The condition of each regimental and company street, mess tent, commissary department, quartermaster's department and stable was seen by the commander-in-chief.

Such a visit establishes a new precedent in this state. The governor was especially solicitous to see that each camp was thoroughly cleanly and sanitary, whether the men were obliged to sleep on the ground or had been provided with tent floors. To each of the regimental, troop and battery commanders and other officers he spoke a word of pleasant greeting, but neither praise nor censure could be construed in the non-committal greetings. However, he said a number of complimentary things about the Second brigade.

As visitors today the governor had Auditor General Hardenbergh, Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds James M. Shumaker, Senator McConkey of York, George F. Paine of Paine & Co., contractors for the new state capitol; Secretary of Agriculture Norman B. Critchfield and Mrs. Critchfield and Representatives W. F. Morrison of Westmoreland county, J. G. Wellar of Somerset county, and Edward Hohman of Cambria. The Rev. J. D. Hunsicker of Glencoe, a cousin of the governor, called by request. Mr. Hunsicker is now in charge of the governor's farm.

Governor Makes Presentation.

At 7:30 the governor was called upon to make a presentation in the Sixteenth regiment. The annual prize drills of that regiment took place today. In the battalion contests the first battalion honors were taken by Company M; in the second by Company B, and in the third by Company F.

In the succeeding contest between these companies for the regimental banner Company M won by a narrow margin, and to that company the commander-in-chief delivered the handsome silk banner it is to hold for the year. The presentation was accompanied by a few words of congratulation. A lead of 10 points given by the spring inspection won for Company M.

From the Sixteenth camp the governor went to the Highland inn, where the same regiment's officers gave this evening a dance for the governor and major general and their staffs with the various commanders, their staffs and line captains. The inn has been the scene of small informal dances nearly every evening this week but this evening's affair eclipsed all the others. The officers in full uniform, many of them wearing decorations won by meritorious service, the ladies in evening dress, the dance music by the Sixteenth regiment band, and the brightness of the illumination of the big dining room converted into a ball room, all combined to render the scene one of the most attractive that has graced a social affair in the brigade for many years. The presence of the governor, for part of the evening likewise distinguished the occasion.

Tenth Reunion a Success.

The annual reunion of the veterans of the Tenth regiment held here today, was one of the most enjoyable affairs the association has ever had. The military atmosphere was strong, the original plan of meeting in the town hall of Somerset having been abandoned in favor of a session in headquarters street of the Tenth regiment in camp. Capt. Richard Coulter, Jr., called the meeting to order and the roll call showed 150 veterans present. In the business session, A. W. Powell of Pittsburgh, of old company I, was elected president for the coming year, the other officers chosen being: A. H. Arthur, son, vice president; Herman Furlong, company A, recording secretary; W. S. Haddock, company C, corresponding secretary, and Clarence Wren, treasurer.

Speeches were made by the newly elected officers and one by Col. Barnett in which the present commander said that the aim of the new Tenth will be to follow the example of the old. It was decided to hold the next reunion in Pittsburgh at the time of the unveiling of the monument to the memory of the departed commander, Col. Alexander Leroy Hawkins. A talk by Maj. George W. Neff, surgeon, completed the addresses. The Tenth regiment band made merry for a time and dinner was served to all of the veterans.

It developed today that a third present was made last night to Col. William T. Richardson and Mrs. Richardson on account of their silver wedding anniversary. Hampton Battery B sent a delegation to division headquarters quietly after the colonel's tent was vacated. On his return he found in his tent a beautiful silver coffee service suitably inscribed. On his way to the meeting Lieut. Burns, surgeon of the battery, fell from a stumbling horse and cut his face severely on the stones.

The service men of the Eighteenth, Fourteenth and Battery B, three Pittsburgh organizations that went to the front in 1898, are holding a reunion in the battery mess tent tonight. The officers of the battery are also paying a call upon company D of the fifth regiment.

WILLIAM L. ROSS.

EFFORT BY CROWD TO RESCUE CARRIE FROM THE POLICE

Mrs. Nation, Kansas Saloon Smasher, Three Times Arrested in Scranton—Audience Interfered and Several Citizens Assaulted.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

Scranton, Pa., July 30.—Carrie Nation was arrested here today while haranguing a crowd and reviling Superintendent of Police Day in front of the city hall. Just before she was arrested she called at the city building and abused Secretary Mahy for allowing a portion of the building to be rented to a druggist who sells cigars.

A partially nude figure on an advertisement in the drug store window caught her eye and incited her anger. She also called on R. C. Willis, hotel keeper, against whom about two years ago she directed a Scranton attorney to bring action for libel for applying her name to a brand of cocktails. Mrs. Nation wept bitterly as she was dragged into a prison cell. She remained until 3 o'clock this afternoon when she was given a hearing before a police magistrate. Mrs. Nation was fined $10 yesterday for selling her hatchet without a license.

Mrs. Nation was given a hearing at 5 o'clock before Police Magistrate Millar and fined $10 for disorderly conduct. She gave bail and took an appeal. Ex-City Solicitor George M. Watson, who was retained by telegraph by a party in Pittsburgh, appeared with Attorney L. P. Wedeman in Mrs. Nation's defense.

Tonight Mrs. Nation again spoke at the entrance of the park to an immense and sympathetic throng. At the conclusion of her lecture she began to sell her hatchets and was once more arrested by Lieutenant Feeny and a squad of six officers on a charge of vending without a license, the same charge on which she was arrested last night.

The crowd called on Carrie to resist and tried to prevent the officers from taking her away. The police had to use their clubs freely in making a passageway to the street. William Law, a wealthy coal operator, was one of the persons assaulted.

A crowd of 5,000 followed all the way to the station house hooting the officers and cheering Mrs. Nation. After being incarcerated for an hour Mrs. Nation was released on $300 bail. Mr. Law, who had gone to the station to get the name of the officer who he says assaulted him, became Mrs. Nation's bondsman.

Attorney Watson and Fairclmain Addyman got into an altercation while waiting for the magistrate and had to be separated by Sergeant Ridgeway. Mayor Connell and the police are to be sued for false imprisonment by Mrs. Nation. She says she will speak again tomorrow.

DRIGGS IS ARRAIGNED ON TWO INDICTMENTS

Ex-Congressman Pleads Not Guilty in Alleged Postoffice Frauds.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 30.—Ex-Congressman Driggs appeared today before Judge Thomas in the United States circuit court, Brooklyn, and pleaded not guilty to two indictments which were recently found against him with leave to withdraw his plea and demur. Mr. Driggs had previously pleaded to five indictments which the June grand jury found against him, and bail in those cases was fixed at $5,000, which he furnished. That bail was continued today.

The last indictment found against Driggs is the seventh and brings in the name of George W. Beavers, now under indictment for alleged bribe taking and wanted by the federal authorities. The indictment says that the Brandt-Dent Company, manufacturers of automatic cashiers, sold such machines for $125 each, which was all the machines were reasonably worth.

There are other allegations in the indictment that George F. Miller, at that time an agent of the corporation, "contriving and intending to cheat and defraud the United States by unlawfully inducing and procuring George W. Beavers, an officer of the postoffice department, to secure from the government a contract for the sale of cash machines, did thus effect the sale of a large number of said machines at a cost of $150 each."

ANGRY WOMAN CAUSES SCENE AT HORSE SHOW

NEW YORK, July 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. John Gerken caused a sensation at the Long Branch horse show this afternoon by plucking from the head of her champion saddle horse La Contributor a white rosette, placed there by the judges, and angrily throwing it on the ground at their feet. Then she spurred her favorite steed out of the show ring. There were 10 entries competing against La Contributor, nearly all of which were novice horses. One of these newcomers, Mrs. Kirkland's chestnut mare Corrinne, was awarded the blue ribbon. Mrs. Gerken was deeply agitated when her favorite failed to carry off first honors. Walter E. Hildreth, vice president and general manager of the show, found her with tears in her eyes in La Contributor's stall after the class was judged.

ROCKLAND, ME., July 30.—Blown 75 miles out to sea and two days adrift in a dory—that was the experience of Mrs. Carter, of Monroes Island. She was picked up yesterday afternoon by the fishing schooner Hazel, of Gloucester, 30 miles east of Mount Desert Rock. The woman was half dead from exhaustion and the effects of large quantities of salt water. Mrs. Carter said she left Owls Head Sunday to row to her home at Monroes Island. One oar broke and she drifted to sea.

NINETEEN FUNERALS OF EXPLOSION VICTIMS

Two Others Are Expected to Die as Result of the Lowell Catastrophe.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LOWELL, MASS., July 30.—A long line of hearses moving slowly through the streets today was a pathetic reminder of yesterday's terrible catastrophe at Wigginsville, when an explosion of nitroglycerin, dynamite and gunpowder snuffed out nearly a score of lives, painfully injured more than double that number of persons and scattered half a hundred buildings over several acres. Tonight the number of dead stands at 19, but it may be increased to 21 at any moment by the death of two of the 10 victims now at St. Johns hospital.

The official report of the Tewksbury selectmen, which was made public tonight, places the loss in the immediate vicinity of the powder magazines at more than $100,000, and as this will fall largely upon the householders, much hardship will result.

After going over the ruins this afternoon Judge Hadley of the local municipal court stated that he would insist upon the presence of the district attorney at the inquest, which will be soon held. He added that no efforts would be spared to place the full responsibility.

IN VERY ROUGH SEA.

Shamrock Again Shows That She Is Dangerous.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., July 30.—In a sea rougher than any she had ever raced in before, and with a wind which at times blew more than 12 knots an hour, Shamrock III. experienced her most severe racing trial today and acquitted herself so became a candidate for the America's cup. Her performance in eight miles of windward work in which it was estimated that she beat her elder sister by six minutes, was a surprise.

The two Shamrocks left Sandy Hook Lightship in a 10 knot breeze at 11:08. With every stitch of canvas drawing the boats went tearing into the teeth of a short choppy sea. Steadily the challenger drew away, a few hundred yards and to leeward. It was dangerous racing in such rough water and after half an hour, when Shamrock III. has a comfortable lead over Shamrock I. they went about and ran back to Sandy Hook lightship.

NEW SYSTEM DISCOVERED FOR WIRELESS MESSAGES

Young Inventor Does Away With Poles Through a Most Novel Device.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, WIS., July 30.—A new system of wireless telegraphy which promises to revolutionize this latest application of the electric current, was put to a successful long distance test on Lake Michigan today. While Mrs. Emily Piggott, mother of the youthful inventor of this new system, ticked a prearranged message from her home at No. 260 Garfield avenue, Chicago, the son, G. S. Piggott, who has applied for a patent on his invention, stood with his father, S. Piggott, on the main deck of the whaleback Christopher Columbus, and received the message.

The new system has many advantages over the style used by Marconi in his invention. First, there is no pole at either receiving or sending station, and according to the inventor, the receiver would have responded to every message even if it were carried in a pocket. An intensifier makes the poles unnecessary. To prevent the interference of foreign currents, each instrument is "timed" to respond only to a current of a certain rapidity of alternation.

This, says the inventor, may be done so accurately that no interference of any kind is possible, no matter through what the vibrations of the current must pass in their journey from one instrument to another.

EXAMINED AIRSHIP.

The French Military Delegation Made Minute Investigation of Dumas' Balloon.

PARIS, July 30.—(Copyright Cable.)—M. Santos-Dumont today received a visit at his balloon sheds, of a delegation representing Gen. Andre, the minister of war, and a delegation composed of Maj. Hirschauer, chief of the French military aeronautical department, and Lieut.-Col. Bourgeaux, chief of Gen. Andre's cabinet.

For two hours these officers remained with M. Santos-Dumont examining his great balloon, trying the 60-horse power motor, starting and stopping the immense propeller and studying every detail of the airship with minute care. The opinion expressed by the representatives of the ministry of war was so unreservedly favorable that a practical test of a novel character—which, if successful, will be conclusive of the airship's military value—will take place very shortly.

BUSINESS BLOCKS BURNED AND FIRE FIGHTER DIES

An Effort to Prevent Suicides.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(Special.)—Startling increases in the number of suicides in Washington has prompted Dr. J. R. Nevitt, the district coroner, to incorporate in his annual report a recommendation that more stringent laws be enacted to govern the sale of carbolic acid. During the 12 months ended June 30 there were 54 deaths in the District of Columbia by suicide, against 32 in the previous year.

VENEZUELA AGAIN DISTURBS DIPLOMATS

Joint Protest Made Against Ousting of a Spanish Consul at La Guayra.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

PORT OF SPAIN, ISLAND OF TRINIDAD, July 30.—Passengers who have just arrived from Caracas say that in consequence of the incident which occurred last Monday at La Guayra, where as a result of friction between the Spanish consul and the local authorities the exequator of the consul was withdrawn, the diplomatic corps at Caracas met and decided to send a joint note protesting against the action of the La Guayra authorities and the withdrawal of the exequator of the Spanish consul.

They took this action, it is said, not for the purpose of assisting the Spanish claims before the mixed tribunal, but because of the precedent which would be established and because they considered it contrary to the protocols made between the powers and signed by Mr. Bowen, the United States minister, acting as the representative of President Castro.

HAYS ADMITS THAT HE FEARS

Confesses the Weakness of the Citizens Party and Wants Fusion With Democrats.

ALONE, NEITHER CAN WIN

Controller John B. Larkin is Opposed to a Fusion With Thomas S. Bigelow—He Thinks a New Municipal Party Should Be Formed.

"There is nothing to be done but for the Democrats and the Citizens parties to fuse. Neither can win without the other."

This was a declaration made by Mayor Hays yesterday. It is considered a remarkable confession of the weakness of the Citizens party for one of its leaders to make. Considering the difficulties that lie in the way of a fusion agreement that will be respected by all Democrats, the mayor's statement will encourage those Independents and Democrats who are opposed to fusion or who may, if the fusion program should go through, form a third party, opposed by Republicans and Citizens alike, unless the Independents should decide to cast in their lot with the Republicans to insure the defeat of the Citizens party.

How Mayor Hays' fusion plan strikes some prominent Democrats is illustrated by an interview yesterday with Controller John B. Larkin. For three successive campaigns Mr. Larkin fought with the Citizens party and in the last campaign adhered to his alliance with the Citizens, even after many of his personal and political friends had abandoned the fusion movement and supported the Republican ticket. Part of Mr. Larkin's premises, it is true, are based on a false conception, for he says the recent efforts to procure harmony between the Citizens party and the Republicans were for business purposes, but his conclusions offer but cold comfort to the supporters of a new fusion program. He said:

Larkin Wants a New Party.

"I don't see anything for the Democrats and Independent Republicans to do but to stand their ground, select new leaders and go on with the fight against both rings. There is splendid material for leadership in and out of councils, and the people seem more anxious than ever to have a government of their own making. They have the power and will likely use it. The Democrats, it seems to me, should stand as they have stood and insist on new leadership for the Citizens party, or cut loose from unfortunate complications and put up their own ticket pledged to the principles formulated by the fusion movement of 1902."

Mr. Larkin's declaration was shown to Thomas S. Bigelow, and he was asked to whom Larkin referred when he spoke of selecting "new leaders." Mr. Bigelow pondered for awhile and then said, gravely: "I think the controller refers to Murry A. Verner."

Mr. Bigelow's reply amused Mr. Larkin very much, when he was told about it, for Mr. Verner became a leader only in the last campaign and Mr. Moody has ever accused Mr. Bigelow of transferring the reins to him.

Senator Matthew S. Quay dropped off in Pittsburgh yesterday on his way to Beaver from the east. He went to the Hotel Duquesne first and then established himself as usual at the Allegheny National bank.

Senator Quay Saw Bigelow.

There he was met by Thomas S. Bigelow, Murry A. Verner and others. Mr. Quay is said to have left Pittsburgh a few days ago, in the full belief that the Citizens party would "vote fair" in the recent harmony negotiations and cement peace with the Republican party in Allegheny county, and he was much surprised to learn that the negotiations had been without result. Mr. Quay went home on the 1:30 p. m. train.

Among Democrats somebody is circulating the report that the Citizens party will not put up candidates for the fall county campaign and that the Democrats may have to conduct the fight alone against the Republicans. It is explained to them that the Citizens party believes it will be in better shape for the municipal fight in February if it remains out of the next campaign. It is suspected that this "tip" is a ruse to induce the Democrats to insist on fusion, in the hope of getting some of the county offices, but those who were seen yesterday said they did not believe that Thomas S. Bigelow could afford to "lie down" this fall, because his organization was largely kept alive by the hopes of securing county patronage, and that if no campaign was made by the Citizens party the organization would go to pieces, city patronage alone not being sufficient to keep it up.

BIGELOW SIGNS THE TECH SITE VOUCHER

Actual Purchase of Flinn-Magee Tract May Be Made Tomorrow.

The actual purchase by the city of the Flinn-Magee tract for the Carnegie Polytechnic school will likely be effected tomorrow. The voucher for the amount of the purchase was signed at Hot Springs, Va., yesterday by Director E. M. Bigelow of the public works department, and is expected to reach Controller John B. Larkin some time today.

The document was forwarded the director at his request and he yesterday wired Assistant Controller E. S. Morrow he had signed and mailed it to Pittsburgh. Mr. Morrow stated yesterday he thinks it will reach here this afternoon. So, if the deeds are all in and the titles are approved, the actual purchase may be made tomorrow morning.

As soon as the purchase is made, it is likely there will be a special meeting of councils to pass two measures in connection with the school site. One is an ordinance to turn the property over to the Carnegie institute trustees. This ordinance has been in common council for several months awaiting the purchase of the property. A resolution will also be passed accepting the lands, subject to condemnation proceedings instituted by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

BROWN IS NOT UNEASY.

Allegheny Controller Is Paying No Attention to City Solicitor Porter's Charges.

Controller James Brown of Allegheny returned yesterday unexpectedly from Atlantic City. He was not expected until today. When questioned regarding the charges made by City Solicitor Stephen G. Porter about two weeks ago, Controller Brown said:

"Oh, don't mind anything Porter says. I don't think what he said caused anybody any uneasiness. If I have disposed of any of the city funds, illegally, I am willing to answer in court for the offense. If it is illegal to pay just debts from the funds of the city, then I am guilty. But if you pay no more attention to what Porter says than I do, there will be no further discussion on the matter."

Mayor Wyman is expected home today but there is a possibility that he will remain at the shore until the early part of next week. His office is being repapered and repainted and yesterday was not in any condition for occupancy.

City Solicitor Porter returned from Atlantic City yesterday, after spending several days with Wyman.

TWO VICTIMS OF THE CANOE DISASTER AT LAKE MUSKOKA

Joseph Hosack.

Carl E. McCaughan.

RELICS OF DROWNED TRIO FOUND IN WATER

Sail of Canoe in Which McCaughan, Hosack and Mehard Went on Lake Muskoka Became Broken—Paddles Recovered.

Relics have been found in Lake Muskoka of Carl E. McCaughan and Joseph Hosack of Carnegie, and Walter Mehard of Mercer, who lost their lives in that body of water in Ontario on Sunday night. The news came in a letter received by the relatives at Carnegie of young McCaughan yesterday. The letter stated that the young men left their camp together, and stopped at another camp to their dinner. Afterward they secured a canoe with a sail attached to it. When on the lake the sail became broken in some way, and they stopped at the house-boat of an old sailmaker, who repaired it. They did not continue their journey any farther, but decided to start back. That they feared the sail would again become broken was shown by the fact that young McCaughan changed his clothes at the sailmaker's place, and put on clothes more suitable to canoeing with paddles. They all took paddles with them. That was the last seen of the boys, for after bidding the sailmaker a hearty adieu they set out on the trip back, using the sail.

Three paddles were found by the searching party. McCaughan's new fishing tackle, which he had purchased in Pittsburgh, was also found, besides some articles of apparel that were identified as belonging to the party, and a coat that seemed to be a strange one.

Mrs. McCaughan, mother of the drowned young man, was visiting in Iowa when her son was lost. Word was sent for her to come home, but the loss of her son was not mentioned. Joseph McCaughan, another son, who lives in Carnegie with his wife and family, went to Chicago to accompany his mother home. Young McCaughan and Hosack were so popular in Carnegie that all day yesterday and the day before bulletins were posted in front of a business house, telling the latest news that had been received from the scene of the disaster. Many were hoping against hope that the first sad news was not correct, but all doubt was dissipated by the telegram received from George Z. Hosack of Carnegie, father of one of the victims, which stated that the boys certainly had been drowned.

New Ambulance Needed.

An effort is being made by the Humane society to raise funds for the maintenance of another ambulance for sick and disabled horses. A friend of the society has offered to provide the wagon and horse if the society will raise $2,000 necessary to maintain the horse and wagon.

No Flag; No Parade.

The Operative Plasterers' association decided last night not to take part in the Labor day celebration. One of the reasons, it is said, is because it claims it won the prize banner last year, which was awarded the structural ironworkers.

Gov. Pennypacker made more than one inspection of the Second brigade at Somerset. After attending the regular inspection according to annual program, he made another inspection of tents, messes, camp equipment and sanitary conveniences that was not on the bills. That was the inspection of a veteran in active service, of a man who had borne arms in the heat of conflict and the burdens of camp life in actual service. Gov. Pennypacker knows the importance of proper camp equipment and regulations in securing the welfare of an army, and his personal inspection is a precedent worthy to be followed.

Bourke Cockran, who has just returned from Europe, says that if Cleveland is nominated he will be elected. The opinion is politically unimportant, but is personally interesting, because Cockran while a regular Democrat gained national distinction as the most eloquent of Cleveland's opponents. He was one of the Tammany minority which first fought the first nomination of Cleveland, and made a brilliant speech to the national Democratic convention, denouncing Cleveland's course as governor of New York. He predicted Cleveland's defeat, but Cleveland was elected. In coming around to Cleveland's side now he does not become any better a prophet than he was before.

It is notable that removal of the Jett-White trial to Cynthiana has had the effect of causing witnesses for the prosecution to testify more freely than they did at Jackson, the center of the Breathitt county feud district. The testimony already adduced completes the chain of evidence, except the actual shooting, and it is expected a witness will be called who saw the dastardly act. The pressure of public sentiment from without is also having its effect in encouraging witnesses and others to promote the cause of justice. It is now only necessary for the law, civil and martial, to guarantee safety to witnesses and punishment for the guilty to restore justice to her pedestal in that part of Kentucky. When the halter draws on a few assassins and the strong arm of the law reaches for a few more of them the reign of terror will be broken.

A British engineer, recently home from the east, announces that Russia is giving the preference to American engineers and American steel in the construction of a great military bridge near the Persian frontier and at other points. This British engineer declares the Americans are in favor with the Russian government, despite the Kishineff incident, or on account of it, and he adds that Russian activity along its frontiers is developing magnificent opportunities for engineers and for certain lines of trade. We venture the opinion, however, that Russian preference for American engineering and American products is neither sentimental nor political, but purely utilitarian. The British administrations in India, Egypt and South Africa have found it advisable at times to invoke the aid of American genius in their public works.

The efforts which the Carnegie library officials are making to collect and preserve the city records of Pittsburgh are of great importance to the community. It is more necessary here than in any other city that private enterprise shall be interested in the work, as the municipal government is astonishingly slothful and negligent in such matters. In other large cities there is a municipal library where bound volumes of city reports are kept for references. Not only is there nothing of the kind here, but no reports are published of the operations of important departments. No report of the police department or health department has been published since 1898. For this discreditable fact the present administration is not to blame, but the responsibility now rests upon it of making up the records so far as is now possible and publishing them for public information.

In a little more than a week the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad expects to open its road into Brownsville from Fayette City. The joint line to the Klondyke was opened some time ago. Already the old town of Brownsville is having a boom, partly from the opening of the Klondyke road and partly from anticipation of the opening of the new line. Brownsville dates to the distant past and achieved fame and a certain prosperity by its location at the head of slackwater navigation for many years. But the railroads are bringing to it a new life and abounding prosperity, which the river traffic could not induce. They are putting it "on the map" in earnest. The situation there is instructive. Navigable water is a good medium for the transportation of heavy, cheap freights, but railroads are essential to full development. It is good policy to encourage river improvement, but not at the expense of auxiliary railroad and other traffic. That lesson is written upon the whole length of the Monongahela valley, from Pittsburgh to Clarksburg and above.

The Baltimore Manufacturers' Record has obtained from official sources some figures of assessed valuation of property in the southern states which indicate marvelous progress. Between 1860 and 1880 the valuation increased at the rate of $26,000,000 a year. Between 1880 and 1890 the increase was at the rate of $160,000,000 a year. From 1890 to 1900 the increase was at the rate of $80,000,000 a year, but during 1901 and 1902 the increase was over a billion a year, the total for the two years being $2,865,785,614, or nearly 94 per cent of the census valuation of 1900. The total valuation is now greater than that of the whole country in 1860. The extraordinary rate of increase between 1880 and 1890 corresponds with the escape of the south from carpet bag rule, which was definitely terminated by the presidential election of 1876. The astonishing increase of real values in the last few years shows how greatly the south has benefited by the prosperity ushered in by the defeat of the free silver movement. Under such circumstances the wane of Bryanism in the south was inevitable, and southern papers are beginning to give blunt expression to the change of sentiment. The Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser, a Democratic paper, recently declared: "The country has had a surfeit of Mr. Bryan. He is a back number, a closed incident, a discredited leader. Let him subside."

What Other Cities Are Doing.

Although there is no city where typhoid fever is as prevalent as in Pittsburgh, yet the death rate from this cause is so marked in all cities that everywhere the character of the water supply is receiving attention. Philadelphia is putting in an extensive sand filtration plant, and at the same time is reconstructing its entire system of water supply, but it will take years to complete the work. The company supplying Indianapolis is constructing a sand filtration plant, which is nearing completion. The filter beds cover seven and a half acres and will supply 32,000,000 gallons a day, which is enough for present requirements. The ground owned by the company is sufficient to afford room for filters capable of supplying 100,000,000 gallons a day. It is expected that the plant will be completed in four months, and it is claimed that Indianapolis will then have the most complete sand filtration plant in the country.

New Orleans has taken in hand the purification of its water supply, and after exhaustive experiments, aided by experts of established authority, has decided in favor of mechanical filtration. The reasons are quite interesting to Pittsburgh, which is referred to in the published report of the investigation. While Allegheny river water contains only 50 parts of suspended matter per million, the Mississippi river contains 650 parts. Filtration of any kind has to remove nearly three tons of earth from every million gallons of water. It was also found that the Mississippi river water at New Orleans, apart from its turbidity, is unusually pure. The opportunities for natural purification are so great for several hundred miles of the river flow that nothing more is needed to fit the water for use, save to clarify it. So thick is the mud that no system of filtration can cope with it, so that the plan provides for a combination of sedimentation basins and mechanical filtration. It was clarified, rather than filtered water, which was sought, and hence the preference for mechanical filtration as a quick process for accomplishing this at least expense. The same reasons caused the adoption of mechanical filtration at Cincinnati and Louisville, the turbidity being respectively 220 and 350. In Pittsburgh turbidity is slight and pollution great, so that sand filtration is not only best, but cheapest in the long run. All authorities agree in holding that sand filtration ought to be adopted wherever feasible, but where the mud to be removed amounts to tons for every million gallons, sand filtration becomes expensive to operate. Pittsburgh is fortunate in being able to avoid the hard, clear water of the alum process, and to be able to secure a supply of soft, pure, filtered water.

Although Potomac river water is more turbid than Allegheny river water, the amount being 80 parts, as compared with 50 here, sand filtration was adopted at Washington after thorough investigation, and contracts for the construction of a plant sufficient to supply 75,000,000 gallons daily were let for less than the amount of the fund now available for the Pittsburgh work. The plans of the work are almost a duplicate of the Pittsburgh design, and were made under the supervision of Mr. Allen Hazen, who acted in the same capacity in Pittsburgh.

The Hawaiian Blunder.

An agitation has been begun in Honolulu in favor of separation from this country. A home rule convention met in Honolulu this week, at which former Delegate Wilcox urged that a petition be presented to congress urging that Hawaii be treated as Cuba has been and turned loose to manage her own affairs. The agitation is sure to fail, as Hawaii is not in a position to maintain its own independence, and unless defended by the United States would certainly pass under foreign rule. Real independence is impossible, and what the movement really proposes is that the United States shall remain subject to responsibility for Hawaiian policy while losing authority to control it.

It has become plain that congress in organizing the Hawaiian government has established institutions which can neither be understood nor worked by the natives. Just as in the southern states, the effect of admitting to the suffrage masses of people untrained to self-government at first tended to set up carpet-bag rule. The native majority in the legislature, unable to comprehend the distinction between the executive and legislative branches of government, thought they had the right to take possession of all the offices. If Hawaii had been a state instead of a territory, the government would in all probability have been exploited carpet-bag fashion, but the executive department being constituted by the appointment of the national government, stood in the way. The intriguing whites, who played upon the ignorance of the natives, procured the passage of a resolution asking President McKinley to remove Gov. Dole, but could make no progress in their schemes to get hold of the public treasury. They could pass bills and appropriations, but the governor could veto them.

The second legislature, elected under the present form of government, closed its session this month. Both branches were nominally Republican, but the real political division was between natives and whites. The natives, who have now developed a leadership of their own, controlled the lower house of the legislature, and their uniform policy in regard to the appropriations was to raise the salary of every office held by a native, and to cut down or abolish the salary of every office held by a white man. As regards other appropriations, if the immediate benefit accrued to the natives, a large figure was proposed; otherwise there was a stubborn opposition. For instance, the house made liberal appropriations for food, clothing and money allowances to the leper settlement, composed of natives, but resisted every appropriation for administrative service at the settlement, or for material for scientific study and treatment of the disease, because the money would not go to natives. If any official incurred dislike an appropriation for his salary would be refused unless the official was discharged. The natives could not be made to understand that the appropriation was for the office and not the man, and they were not deterred by any concern about the consequences of stopping the operations of government. It was a matter of extreme difficulty to procure the passage of necessary appropriations, and to save one important bill it was necessary to consent to the discharge of one white official.

As a result of these experiences the color line is drawn in Hawaii and the white people, who pay the bulk of the taxes, are uniting to prevent the natives from again having a majority in either house of the legislature. It will be the story of the southern states over again unless congress intervenes and establishes a system of government better adapted to actual political conditions. Uninstructed by reconstruction experience in the south, congress has made a similar blunder in Hawaii, and if it is not corrected by law it will be corrected outside of law with pernicious consequences, both to whites and natives.

Promises and Profits.

It is not unnatural that newspapers at a distance from centers of iron and steel production should take a superficial view that is suggested by the course in the stock market of securities of the corporations engaged in the manufacture of iron and steel, instead of forming their judgment from dividend payments. But it is wrong. Do men gather grapes of thorns, and figs of thistles? And do they receive dividends from properties that are of no value? The slump in Wall street that carried down United States Steel Corporation stock along with Pennsylvania railroad and New York Central railroad stocks and other securities has inspired newspapers all over the country to preach sermons on United States Steel, which is selling below par, but somewhat strangely they neglect the moral, if there is one, in the 50-point drop in Pennsylvania railroad shares, and similar declines in other shares. It is generally accepted that the Pennsylvania's securities are a good thing, no matter how high they go or how far they fall below the high point, regardless of the actual earning on the investment, while, because United States Steel dropped with Pennsylvania, the hue and cry is raised against it. And all the time the return on the investment in United States Steel stock at any price at which it has sold has far exceeded the return on the railroad securities. Whether it is unreasonable to denounce a corporation because of the stock market price of its securities when the dividend rate is equal to from 10 to 16 per cent on the stock market valuation, while applauding actually, and by inference, other corporations whose securities net the holder 4 or 5 per cent on quotable value, must be left to the riper reflection and saner judgment of present critics.

The Syracuse Herald, concluding an editorial article on United States Steel, says:

Recently the gentlemen who promoted the trust and who issued the glowing prospectus promising such magnificent returns have not seemed to take such interest in the course of the market. They appear willing to let the stockholders look out for themselves.

By "trust" the Herald means the United States Steel Corporation. By "the gentlemen who promoted it" is probably meant the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., for Morgan and Schwab are the only names mentioned. What promises that were made for the United States Steel Corporation, it is only fair to ask, remain unfulfilled? Has it defaulted on either interest or dividends? Five per cent was promised on its bonds and 5 per cent has been regularly paid. Its preferred stock is entitled by the terms of the incorporation to an annual dividend of 7 per cent on par value, and 7 per cent has been regularly paid. A dividend has also been paid regularly on the common stock, which at the moment exceeds an interest rate of 16 per cent on the money actually required to buy the stock in the open market, and by way of contrast it may be pointed out that the same amount of money invested in New York Central stock at the market price will yield about only one-fourth the income. If an investment is to be judged by its fruits for the investor, the "glowing prospectus" has been borne out up to this time by performance, and reports of cash in bank and steadily growing cash surplus do not indicate that there will be a different story to tell in the discernible future.

Why, in the light of interest and dividend payments should "the gentlemen who promoted the trust," as the Syracuse Herald calls it, bother their heads about such a thing as the course of the stock market? It is the iron and steel market and the market for the manufactured products of iron and steel, and not Wall street, that gives real value to the securities of the United States Steel Corporation, and the promoters serve the interests of the stockholders much better by looking after and safeguarding the markets for the corporation's products than they could by devoting their time to Wall street. They are probably not much disturbed by Wall street, and the stockholders can best "look out for themselves" by cultivating a similar frame of mind. Promises of profits to stockholders have been well kept. Wall street profits are another matter entirely.

In All Fairness.

In the spirit of fairness The Gazette prints a communication from Hon. John F. Dravo this morning, explaining the opposition of himself and the coal exchange to the Davis island dam when that improvement was being urged by the chamber of commerce. Mr. Dravo's plea of justification rests upon "terrific experience" with lock No. 1, Monongahela river, from which it may be inferred the river men would have abolished that dam also, if they could, just as they would now remove the bridges from across the Allegheny river. We need only say the "terrific" lock No. 1 of the Monongahela Navigation Company was the keynote to all of the superior development of the Monongahela valley that may be ascribed to slackwater navigation. We may also say that ignorance is no excuse in the eyes of the law, and that the hold-back river men are but repeating themselves by voicing opposition to modern types of river craft as they voiced their antagonism to slackwater on the Ohio. But the new type boats will navigate the Allegheny, towing the immense tonnages of cheap freight that may be carried that way, and the much larger traffic across the river will continue unmolested.

In conclusion we can only say we wish the river men had been as fair in their demonstration on Tuesday as The Gazette has been in always giving them a hearing. If they had been thus fair they would not have had an unusual height of water at the new dam; they would have fully lowered the smoke stacks of the Florence Bella at the Forty-third street bridge; they would have broken off the projecting, useless timbers there, and they would have taken their fleet above the site of lock No. 2, thereby demonstrating that the river, when slackwatered, will be navigable for ordinary craft without disturbing other and greater interests. Their unfairness is so fully and so widely known that even their own advocates are ashamed to indorse it. Such being the case it is time to drop the bridge issue, raised by Chairman Burton of the rivers and harbors committee, and concentrate effort upon the task of persuading the unwilling Mr. Burton to give the Allegheny and Ohio rivers as fair a show for deeper channels as the lakes and their harbors have been given.

That it was the fashion among kings, emperors, and even popes, to go out suddenly, and often cruelly, is shown by the fate of many who had become more or less notorious if not famous:

Maybe you think the dangers attending kingship, and the like, are what try men's souls.

Have you ever had your soul tried real hard? Or would you know it if it were being tried? No doubt you have had some trials which you think were pretty hard to bear.

But there are times which seem to have been ordered just to try the soul of man—the souls of all men who have souls. For instance:

When he pops the question.

When his wife wants to talk and he doesn't.

When hash is placed before him five successive mornings at the breakfast table.

When he pokes his head through his last clean shirt, and finds no buttons on behind.

When he buys a new pair of shoes and finds two big nails sticking up in the heels.

When he hurries around the corner and lands square in the arms of a man who holds his L. O. U.

When he takes his girl out and discovers that he has left his pocketbook at home in his old trousers.

When he comes home early in the morning and his wife wants to hold a little debating society in the lower hall.

When he goes home at night, finds a house full of company, and his wife blissfully ignorant of the fact that supper is not ready.

When in his dreams he is standing upon the verge of a precipice, and his wife suddenly reminds him that he isn't, but he is jerking her "bangs" bang all pieces.

When the doubtful makes a call at his house and tries to make him believe that $25 will purchase new red flannel petticoats for all the little colored girls in Africa.

When he dives down into the bottom of his trunk, jerks out what he supposes is a clean pair of socks, but finds only an old table napkin, with four white neckties, put away for next summer.

When after waiting in a barber shop for an hour, and hearing the welcome word "Next," he sees a little fellow shoot up from behind a paper and slide into the chair like a streak of greased electricity.

* * * * *

Men are not the only stars in the constellation—not by several. There are women, and they have their trials and troubles, and have them good and strong, so they think. And their greatest trials and the source of their sorest troubles are the men.

"My husband is really an awfully sweet fellow—indeed, were it not for just one thing he would be perfect," said a model housewife during a social circle chat the other evening.

"Do tell us what it is, for we thought he was without flaw or blemish in your estimation."

"Well, he thinks he can cook, and every once in a while he insists on taking a turn in the kitchen. He never tells me about his mother's cooking, but I'd much rather he would than to show me how he does it.

"Two or three times a week he comes in with the announcement that he is going to cook a steak. I used to protest, but that did no good, so now I meekly follow him to the kitchen.

"As soon as the cook catches sight of us a look of consternation appears on her face, and she promptly retires to the table and sulks. Then monsieur, my husband, clears a space in the range, regardless of the consequences to boiling vegetables; takes the fire in an energetic masculine way that sends coals to the other side of the room; puts on the skillet, and after many tribulations and much fussing, heats it to his satisfaction and puts on the meat.

"A blaze follows, and soon the odor of scorched beef pervades the air; the room becomes full of smoke, which penetrates to the other parts of the house, and we all nearly choke to death. Then the doors and windows must be open, to be sure, and ten minutes later we are all seated at the dinner table wrapped in shawls and a smoky atmosphere, and eating burnt meat, which the chef of the family pronounces delicious.

"I don't mind his making mayonnaise dressing, for I don't like to beat it myself, and he does, so I let him work off his superfluous energy on that many times. But worst of all his attacks of cooking fever are those he develops when he comes in late at night and insists upon making a rabbit. I'm not an enthusiast about rabbit in the wee sma' hours of the night, so I retire.

"Directly I am roused from a doze by a stentorian voice which says, 'Edith, where's the salt?' I reply with explicit directness.

"Presently there's another wail. 'I can't find the alcohol!' 'Is there any mustard in the house?' It's a wonder you wouldn't keep the catsup where a fellow could get hold of it, until, in very desperation I get up, put on my wrapper, and go down stairs to put right under his blessed, blind old eyes every thing he could possibly want.

"We women have many troubles, but if you all don't know anything about the ills of a husband who will cook, you haven't experienced one of the greatest."

* * * * *

If we had not some trials in life we wouldn't know how strong we are; and if we were not aware that those are a part of the game of life we would not last long, for, being warned, we know what to expect, and if we are wise we will get ready for whatever may come.

A good, hard trial is apt to show whether a young man has the stuff in him out of which real men are made.

It is the tree most exposed to the storm that is staunchest and furnishes the most desirable material for important structures. Those in the heart of the forest, that have been sheltered from the storms by trees and undergrowth, may have the size, and may even look better, but the artisan who is looking for good, reliable timber, of fine growth and dense fiber, passes them by. Not having been storm-tried, their fiber toughened by almost continual bendings and twistings, and their vitality severely taxed by exposure, they are not fit timber for responsible pieces in important structures.

The lives of our greatest and best and most successful men prove quite conclusively that trials, troubles and adversities are the making of strong men.

Face the storm, my boy! and learn to stem it, even though it deal with you most roughly.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 30.—On such a day as this has been—boiling hot, with danger of sunstroke in every square yard of unprotected space—the need of some provision for getting women and children safely across streets at crowded corners is emphasized with more than common force. What New York wants, more than "isles of safety," is an extension of Deputy Police Commissioner Piper's subtle way of keeping traffic in the control of policemen. Wherever the Piper method is in operation there is little danger to timid persons in getting across busy thoroughfares. At Chambers and West streets, where thousands of Erie railroad passengers have to battle their way to and fro in a wilderness of cars, trucks, wagons and pedestrians, the difficulties are lessened almost to extinction when the policemen on that post are present. The same may be said of Canal street and Broadway and several other downtown points as well as at that awful death trap at Thirty-fourth street, Broadway and Sixth avenue. But there are other corners where policemen are not regularly stationed, or have not such clear orders as the Piper men, and if in all these corners that there should be improvement. Manhattan, in many hours, is a fearsome place for nervous people of either sex.

Island's Fate Awaits Mosquito.

"Big Bill" Devery's criticism of the old tubs used as ferryboats for the Staten Island side are only such as Staten Islanders have been entertaining for 10 years and more. When one sails along through the Narrows and sees Staten Island from end to end, he cannot but marvel that such a lovely stretch of country, within a stone's throw of Manhattan, should be so isolated through poor transportation. The ferryboats are of crazy material, slow of movement, unwieldy and comfortless. The corporation in charge of the line promises better things, and possibly there will be improvement. If it ever does come there will be a rush to take up holdings on old Staten Island, and the mosquitoes will be crowded into the Narrows on one side or the Kill Von Kull on the other, to make room for always insistent humanity.

May Break His Record Now.

"Monk" Eastman, the thug, who is more than suspected of "doing" McMahon, David Lamar's coachman, is a characteristic product of Cherry Hill. As leader of a gang of toughs, "Monk" has defied the police for 15 years or so. He is 29 years old now, and has been fighting since his early teens. It is a peculiar commentary on the completeness of the Bowery organization, such as Eastman's, that he has never "done time," although arrested for many felonies. None of his followers dared to "squeal" for their lives, and so long as there is the much-talked-of honor among thieves so long would he be safe. But he is in a tight place now, the police say, and they expect him to "squeal" on his employers, if he had any, who paid him for thrashing McMahon. Leader as he is, "Monk" is not too proud to save his own skin at anybody's expense. There is nothing heroic in the leader of a tough gang in the slums of Manhattan.

Smashers War Is Ended.

The strike of the trunk-smashers today turned out to be worse than was expected. Not a horse or wagon left the stables of the New York Transfer Company in any part of New York, and people who required trunks moved had to find some other agent than "Doods' Express," as it is called. The usual story of strikers laying in wait for non-union men is repeated, and it is hard for the company to get men to fill the places of strikers when they know that most likely they will find men waiting to attack them with any weapons at hand. This is the busy season, and trunks are piled up at the various railroad stations in picturesque disarray. Happily for the theatrical men, they have not begun to move their companies for "the road" yet, or they would find themselves in a bad fix, for they depend greatly on "Doods" express at such time. The trouble was settled this evening.

Here's Enterprise for You.

A New Jersey insurance man offers to insure goods against damage by cyclones. The blow in Paterson suggested to him that people would be glad to pay to secure themselves against loss by winds, knowing human nature well enough to be sure that the possible customer would not pause to reflect that only one cyclone has ever struck that part of Jersey within the memory of man, and that the law of averages establishes the probability of there never being another.

Hackensack Prophet All Right.

The thunderstorm tonight was the most welcome visitation New York has had in the way of weather for months. In this connection credit should be given to the Hackensack weather prophet who predicted it, as well as the one last night, when the official weather bureau promised only fair weather.

Devery's Record Like Others.

If you want a war record you might take a lesson from W. S. Devery. He says that 30 years ago he was cook on a boat that went down to Sandy Hook in a hurry, because it was thought the Merrimac was coming. The Merrimac did not come, but Devery's record was quite safe, nevertheless.

Get a Breathing Spell Anyhow.

There was a downward trend of the market in Wall street today. Atchison common was the pivotal stock around which the bear movement revolved. When the market closed this afternoon everyone felt relieved at the prospect of a few hours of respite, although it is anticipated that there will be more excitement tomorrow.

Caught Them Redhanded.

It is hard to frighten people out of the policy business. Although Al Adams (Sing Sing, charged with being a "policy king," and one of his assistants has just confessed that he has been mixed in policy, county detectives managed to raid a policy shop in Broome street this afternoon, catching one man in the act of writing the policy manifold book. Police Captain Flood, in charge of the precinct, did not know anything about the raid until it was over, but it was just as effective a raid nevertheless. Broome street is an exceedingly busy thoroughfare, in a densely populated quarter of Manhattan, and policy business is always good in such a locality.

Unions and the Government.

President Roosevelt is right in declaring that membership in a trades union cannot be a necessary qualification for employment in the government printing office. As a rule, however, an offense that will justify expulsion from membership in a trades union would also vitiate any claim the expelled member might have to government employment.—Omaha Bee.

Political Drift.

Much is expected by the Indianapolis Journal (Rep.) of the new publicity law affecting corporations. It cites the Missouri boodle cases. In one the agent of a baking powder concern procured enactment of a law giver it a practical monopoly. He has "held up" every session afterward to prevent repeal. In St. Louis the councilmen took the initiative and raided a corporation in legitimate business, compelling it to pay bribes or suffer. The Journal suggests that both these classes of boodling can be prevented by a full measure of publicity of corporate doings.

\+ \+ \+

"American foreign ministers and ambassadors have not always been diplomatists of long experience," yet the story of their victories over the trained diplomatists of Europe, beginning with the success of Benjamin Franklin at the French court and descending to the present day, is one of the most glorious chapters in the country's history," says the Kansas City Journal (Rep.) "Learning, a broad mind and great natural capacity for negotiation, more than any particular kind of training, are what are required for eminent success in this line of statecraft, unless the experience of our country is altogether misleading. It seems improbable, therefore, that Senator Lodge and President Roosevelt will propose, or that congress would accept, any scheme which would radically change the method of appointment to the higher diplomatic positions."

\+ \+ \+

Referring to Bourke Cochran's support of the Cleveland boom, the Washington Star (Ind. Rep.) says: "It is true, however, that while some of Mr. Cleveland's old enemies have whipped around to his side and are now leading the chorus in his praise, some of those who heretofore have all but worshiped him are very guarded in discussing him for another term as presidential standard-bearer. What a casting up of this profit and loss account would show is a question, and now that matters are warming up we may expect the experts soon to tackle the problem."

\+ \+ \+

"From the moment it became apparent that Mr. Bryan would not consent to a compromise with the eastern Democracy by which, however sweetly the pill might be sugar-coated, Bryan and Bryanism would be eliminated, it was settled that the reorganizers would adopt the course that would be most repugnant to Mr. Bryan and that would most effectually cut him off from the party," explains the Des Moines Register and Leader (Dem.) "That is the logic of the Cleveland revival. Bryan and Bryanism had to go. If they were willing to go peaceably, the national convention would treat them with sufficient consideration to name a candidate for the presidency not absolutely repugnant. So long as they will not go peaceably they will be given the bitterest dose in the Democratic medicine chest."

\+ \+ \+

"Let Bryan eliminate Bryan, and then harmony will be eliminated," advises the Atlanta Journal (Dem.) "As long as he keeps bringing forth Bryan, just so long will inharmony be brought forward. To sum it in a homely fashion, Clevelandism got there first, and it certainly looks like it intends to stay a while, if we are to judge by the popular reception it got only recently when it came out for a bit of airing, as it were."

MR. DRAVO APPEALS.

He Admits Opposition to Davis Island Dam, but Pleads Justification.

To the Editor of The Gazette.

The well-known preliminary opposition of coal men to the construction of Davis Island dam is once more made to serve certain ends at a certain time. No one denies that coal men, in view of their terrific experience in getting loaded boats through Lock No. 1 on the Monongahela river during boating stages of the river, did oppose the construction of Davis Island dam, and no self-respecting and wide-awake coal shipper could have done otherwise without reliable information. The dam was the first of its kind constructed in this country. Very little, even among engineers, was known of its characteristics or its adaptation to the waters of the Ohio river. The shippers dreaded a repetition of the delay and turmoil experienced at Lock No. 1, but when the special features of the Chanoine system of dams was made clear, divested, with characteristic manliness, became warm supporters of the project, and the writer, at their request, made frequent visits to Washington to secure needed appropriations for its completion, and on the day of the opening rivermen furnished at their own cost the most magnificent marine display ever seen on western waters.

The purpose of the report by The Gazette in Wednesday's issue of the actions of the chamber of commerce and coal exchange was to lessen the telling force of Tuesday's celebration as to the obstructive character of low bridges, but the purpose failed. The obstructive character of these bridges was never so impressed upon the public mind as when the procession was in part halted at Union bridge and finally halted at Forty-third street bridge. The one supreme lesson of this day, demonstrated beyond controversy, was that low bridges across the Allegheny river deprive the people of the valley of the full use of their great waterways.

The use of the writer's name so prominently in the words, "Dravo stood alone," was intended to do the chief of sinners harm, but when it is understood what Dravo stood for it will be seen that The Gazette unwittingly did Dravo a great favor. What Dravo aimed to secure was a 400-foot navigable pass or "adjustable gateway," and though alone at the time mentioned the 400-foot adjustable gateway was adopted by Col. Merrill as a feature of the improvement and is made 600 feet in all of the dams now under construction on the Ohio river. Dravo is not afraid to stand alone when under the conviction of being right.

In a former controversy on the bridge question, as this same old harp of a thousand strings was being played, I wrote an article giving in detail a history of the rivermen's opposition, giving the reasons for their opposition, and after waiting quite a while for its appearance I called at the office and asked, as a personal favor, to have published the delayed communication, and wrote myself a preliminary note which appeared as The Gazette's apology for the publication of my article. Now, as The Gazette is publishing ancient history connected with the location and construction of Davis Island dam, will it, as an act of simple justice to men who have honest convictions but change when good reasons justify such change, republish the article to which reference is made? It will be accepted as proof that The Gazette is disposed to treat others as it wishes to be treated. JOHN F. DRAVO.

July 30, 1903.

[We do not care to give space to republication of the communication referred to. The Gazette printed it once which was all that fairness could possibly demand, especially as it is an ex parte statement that does not alter the case.—Editor.]

LARKIN TO STUDY PLANTS AT WORK

Takes a Hand in Filtration and Will Go on Inspection Tour Next Week.

WILL VISIT THREE PLACES

Select Councilman of Thirty-Ninth Ward Favors Sand Filtration and Immediate Action on Project—Quorum for Today's Meeting Assured.

Eleven new cases of typhoid fever were reported to the Pittsburgh bureau of health yesterday.

Controller John B. Larkin is about to take a hand in the delayed filtration proceedings. Early next week he starts on an inspection of a few of the big filtration plants in the country. He had intended starting tomorrow night, but had to postpone his trip for a few days owing to pressure of the city's business.

The controller will first visit Little Falls, N. Y., where there is a large mechanical filtration plant which supplies Paterson, N. J. He will make a thorough study of this plant, so as to familiarize himself with all the different processes of making water pure.

From Little Falls, Mr. Larkin will go to Lawrence, Mass., where is in successful operation the exact kind of a sand filtration plant proposed for this city's use. The controller will also inspect the sand filtration plant at Albany, N. Y. Any other plants he may learn of on his trip will also be examined.

Controller Larkin stated yesterday that the reason he is going to take this trip is because a number of councilmen have been asking his advice on filtration. While he realizes some action should be taken at once, he believes that one should thoroughly understand the situation before giving advice.

William E. Sankey, select councilman from the Twenty-seventh ward, stated yesterday he would be at today's meeting of the upper branch and that he favors the sand filtration method and immediate action to purify water for Pittsburgh. He said he favored the recommendations of the filtration commission and believed that they should be carried out.

Mr. Sankey said he was assured that there would be a quorum today and that filtration would be thoroughly discussed to the exclusion of all other business. The Duquesne way ordinances cannot be brought up, and filtration will hold full sway.

City Clerk E. W. Hassler said yesterday that he had secured the pledges of over half of the upper branch to be present at today's meeting at 3 o'clock, and that a quorum is assured. No other business but filtration will be taken up, he said.

The Federal Telephone Company will ask for a franchise in Homestead at the next meeting of council of that borough and the right of way likely will be granted, allowing three telephone companies to operate in the borough. The Federal company has confined itself to McKeesport and the towns farther up the Monongahela valley for many years, but it was stated yesterday that the franchise in Homestead was the first of many that will be asked for in the boroughs close to Pittsburgh.

WILL APPEAL SUNDAY CASES

Wilkinsburg Druggists Want Decision of Higher Court on Burgess Keys' Decision.

MORE OPPOSITION RAISED

Pretty Choir Singer Is Dodging Constables While She Can Get All the Bond She Wants—Braddock Druggists Getting Active.

Wilkinsburg's Sunday soda water fight has about reached the hair-splitting stage. With two committees working in opposition a third is likely to develop from the ranks of the more conservative citizens and heaviest taxpayers. It was asserted last night that if the committee of 12 does not take up a general prosecution of Sunday violations pressure of such force will be brought to bear that the committee will desist from further molestation of the druggists.

No warrants have as yet been issued on the strength of the 24 informations made before Justice Walker Wednesday afternoon, and there is much humorous speculation as to when the choir singers will be required to give bond or go to jail. Pretty Miss Caroline Schroth, soprano of the First Presbyterian church of Wilkinsburg, has been assured of ample bail, although this has not relieved her of a good deal of fear. When a reporter for The Gazette called last night at the residence of her parents, No. 28 Washington avenue, Miss Schroth was not at home. She is taking particular pains to hide from the constables. It is understood that no more warrants will be issued this week.

The public sentiment committee will next Sunday acquire additional information and appear before Burgess John A. Keys. The informations will then be officially laid before the committee of 12. As far as can be learned the usual violations will be in force on that day. Miss Schroth and the other members of the quartet, with the exception of one, will at least defy the law, and the ice companies, as well as the milk companies expect to do business at the old stand.

Attorney Harry McIntosh, representing the druggists, last night issued writs of certiorari in the cases tried before Burgess Keys. An appeal will be taken in common pleas court No. 2 on the records and not the merits of the cases. It is claimed that the burgess in his last decision reversed himself.

The druggists of Braddock are also having their own merry time of it. At a hearing before Justice Jaquay, at Rankin yesterday E. Devere and H. S. Busser, connected with amusement features at Kennywood park, were ordered to pay a forfeit of $25 for Sunday violations. As exclusively told in The Gazette yesterday suits have been entered against a number of druggists of Braddock.

The druggists held a meeting yesterday afternoon after which it was said the suits had been entered to discourage the people of Braddock from continuing the fight against Kennywood. It was reported that the druggists or interests friendly to them would enter counter suits against a number of motormen and conductors and men employed at the power plants of the park. The cases against the druggists will be heard this afternoon before Alderman Anderson.

"Mellor" Stands for Melody

Musicians And Others

It is a mistake to suppose that the Pianola is intended only for persons who have never learned to play the piano. As a matter of fact, many fine musicians are glad to avail themselves of this wonderful device. It enables them to produce the most exquisite results and is an inspiration to all lovers of music. And yet a child or a person without any technical knowledge of music can play the piano perfectly by means of the Pianola.

Any kind of music can be played with the Pianola on any make of piano. The Pianola is the standard piano player because of its perfect technique and sympathetic power of expression.

CITIZENS' BOSSES ARE CONDEMNED

Their Own Adherents Turn on Them for Breaking Their Campaign Pledges.

WANT A NEW PARTY FORMED

Republican and Democratic Adherents of Citizens Party Hold a Meeting in Twenty-Third Ward—Hail Larkin and Stevenson as New Leaders.

A meeting of Republicans and Democrats of the Twenty-third ward who were formerly affiliated with the Citizens party, but who have become disgusted with the record of broken campaign pledges piled up by that organization, met last night in the Hazelwood school house and adopted resolutions forswearing all alliance with the Citizens party and calling for the formation of a new party under the leadership of John B. Larkin and William H. Stevenson. The meeting was fairly well attended, and among those present were men who only a few months ago worked hard for the success of the organization controlled by Thomas S. Bigelow.

The only debate arose concerning the phrases that would make the resolutions as strong as possible, so that there could be no doubt as to the position occupied by the participants in the meeting.

The meeting was called to order by E. A. Hornberger, and J. D. Sweeney, the school director, was elected chairman, S. S. Serena secretary and A. P. Griffin assistant secretary. Mr. Hornberger read some editorials of newspapers that have supported the Citizens movement through thick and thin, but now are condemning the party's leaders, and then moved that a committee be appointed by the chairman to draw up resolutions.

Committee on Resolutions.

Chairman Sweeney selected the following men to serve on the committee: The Rev. George E. T. Stevenson, E. A. Hornberger, L. P. Nichols, David Jones, John Concannon, John Forrest, J. J. Kearney, S. S. Serena and A. P. Griffin. The committee retired and soon returned with a series of resolutions.

The document was a lengthy arraignment of "bosses" who had diverted the movement for reform into wrong channels, advocated the formation of an "independent Citizens-Democratic party," denounced the attempted betrayal of the Citizens party by its powerful political bosses and pledged the promotors of the new party to take for their leaders men "like Controller John B. Larkin and Councilman William H. Stevenson."

Former Councilman John R. O'Malley suggested that the resolution indorse mayor Hays for his stand for reform as they indorsed Councilman Frederick H. Rechner, but Mr. Hornberger said Mayor Hays had not yet proved himself, that after he had shown his hand on the Duquesne way franchise, it would be time to indorse him.

Select Councilman Dr. W. D. O'Brien was called on for a speech, as there was great curiosity to hear how he stood on the filtration and franchise questions. Dr. O'Brien said he had come hoping to hear something that might guide him in his action on filtration and the Duquesne way ordinance. He said there were two sides to the latter question.

Favored By Property Holders.

Some persons thought the removal of the tracks from Liberty street was sufficient compensation from the railroad for the franchise. Everybody owning property in Liberty street was in favor of moving the tracks, and he had not heard of a single property in Duquesne way objecting to placing the tracks there. He asked: "Is it more to the city's benefit to have the tracks in Liberty street, or is it more to the city's benefit to have them in Duquesne way, the railroad to pay for all damages and a clause to be inserted giving other railroads the right to use the tracks?"

Dr. O'Brien suggested that the resolutions ought to say something about filtration and about bosses who made deals with corporations and expected city councils to ratify them. Richard Horan said that positively something ought to be said about filtration, and on his motion the committee was instructed to retire and add some amendments. This amendment was added and adopted by the meeting unanimously.

"We demand speedy action on the filtration question, as human lives are in jeopardy."

At the suggestion of Mr. Hornberger it was decided to meet on Thursday, April 27, and the meeting adjourned to that date.

Effort to Increase Revenue.

Another effort is to be made this year to increase the collections for switch licenses. The department of public works has sent out notices to many of the companies using private switches, telling them that they must pay up at once. It is believed that the city should receive a revenue this year of over $16,000 from this source.

"NERVOUS AND IRRITABLE."

Pe-ru-na Is Invaluable to Ailing Women.

A Beautiful Michigan Girl Sends Her Thanks to Dr. Hartman.

Miss Celia Harrington, 303 Second avenue, Detroit, Mich., writes:

"Weakness has filled many months of my life with suffering. Through carelessness I caught a severe cold two years ago which settled in catarrh and seriously interfered with the regular functions of the body, and made me nervous and irritable. I began taking Peruna and found in it a faithful helper, as it enriched my blood and invigorated the whole system. I have no pains now and am always well. I heartily recommend Peruna as a reliable medicine."

In Peruna these women find a prompt and permanent cure. Thousands upon thousands of testimonials to this effect are received by Dr. Hartman every year. The good that Peruna has accomplished in this class of cases can scarcely be overestimated.

The great popularity of Peruna as a catarrh remedy has tempted many people to imitate Peruna. A great many so-called catarrh remedies and catarrhal tonics are to be found in many drug stores. These remedies can be procured by the druggist much cheaper than Peruna. Peruna can only be obtained at a uniform price, and no druggists can get it a cent cheaper.

Pe-ru-na the only Catarrhal Tonic.

Thus it is that druggists are tempted to substitute the cheap imitations of Peruna for Peruna. It is done every day without a doubt.

We would caution all people against accepting substitutes for Peruna. Insist upon having Peruna. There is no other internal remedy for catarrh that will take the place of Peruna. Allow no one to persuade you to the contrary.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

ATTACKED IN COURT BY DEPUTY SHERIFF

Beaver County Officer Assaults Railroad Attorney—Nearly 200 Italians Arrested.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BEAVER, PA., July 30.—This quiet town had plenty of excitement today. Yesterday Sheriff Bliss and his deputy, Leslie Graham, arrested four men for trespass on the Frazier farm in Industry township, employes of the Pennsylvania company, for attempting to tear down a barn to make way for the double tracks of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad. While the four men were here a force of over 150 Italians were sent to the Frazier farm to finish tearing down the barn.

Warrants were placed in the hands of Sheriff Bliss and his deputy this morning, and they went to the scene of the war and arrested 162 laborers and marched them to the court house here. John M. Buchanan, attorney for the Pennsylvania company, used some strong language to Deputy Sheriff Graham, which the latter promptly resented by attacking Mr. Buchanan. Sheriff Bliss interfered and separated the combatants. Mr. Buchanan is crippled from rheumatism. Alexander T. Anderson, a friend of Attorney Buchanan, signed a bond of $4,000 for the appearance of 162 Italians, and they were bound over to the September term of court.

BRADFORD, PA., July 30.—Inflamed by liquor Jacob Fedrick, a farm laborer, this afternoon at 4 o'clock went to the home of his father-in-law, Chauncey Field, three miles from Salamanca, and murderously attacked his wife, who was washing in the kitchen. He pounded her over the head with a club until he thought she was dead.

Leaving her lying on the floor horribly contused and bruised, he went out into the roadway and there nearly severed his head from his body with a razor. He died immediately. The woman is still alive, but is not expected to recover. They had four children, but did not live together.

POLICY BOARD MEETS.

Army and Naval Commanders Addressed by Secretary Root on Pertinent Questions.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The first meeting of the general policy board was held today. Admiral Dewey was elected president, and Commander Barnett secretary. There was a general discussion of the subject of coaling and naval stations in Cuba, with a view to determining whether they should be garrisoned by the army or by marines.

Secretary Root already has taken steps to place troops at Guantanamo and Bahia Honda, and some of the naval officers are not well pleased at his action. Secretary Root, by invitation, briefly addressed the board, saying that he believed good results would come from its deliberations on questions affecting both branches of the war force. The board adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman, and probably will not reassemble until autumn, as Admiral Dewey and several other members are about to leave town for several weeks.

AEROPLANE IS STILL AN UNTESTED SHIP

Prof. Langley's Experiment Cannot Be Launched on Account of the Weather.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WIDEWATER, VA., July 30.—Rough seas and a strong southwesterly wind today again prevented an experiment with the Langley flying machine, even though the Smithsonian experts in charge of the airship expedition had been prepared to proceed with the tests. But little actual work was done on the "Buzzard," and no action toward launching an aeroplane was made.

Adverse winds prevailed from early morning until about 4 o'clock this afternoon, the hour at which the scientists usually stop work for the day. While no actual storm occurred, the wind was quite high, and the waters of the Potomac were too rough for a successful experiment.

It cannot be learned whether Prof. Langley is expected by the members of his party to join the expedition at an early date or not. He has not yet put in an appearance, and the delay in carrying on the airship trials are made due to his absence.

SYSTEM IS REVISED TO PREVENT DEAD-LOCKS

Republicans of Westmoreland and Butler Agree Upon a Method of Nomination.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., July 30.—Republicans of Westmoreland and Butler counties, comprising the Twenty-second congressional district, this afternoon abolished the equal conferee system, three representatives from each county and the vexatious deadlocks that have characterized every selection of a congressional nominee for a score of years, are a thing of the past. Delegations from the two county committees met here this afternoon to decide upon rules to govern the choice of candidates.

Westmoreland was represented by Robert A. Rankin, W. C. Peoples and James H. Gallagher. The Butler committee was made up of J. M. Wise, Dr. J. B. Showalter, and W. J. Marks. It was proposed by the Butler men that Westmoreland be given five conferees and Butler three for three successive terms, and that this number be reversed for the next two terms. The Westmoreland aggregation insisted that the number of conferees be eight and three, and after a lengthy discussion, this ratio was agreed upon.

The rules adopted provide that the person who is selected as the choice of either of said counties shall have the right to name the conferees from his county. The conferees' decision shall be final.

CAPTURED IN PITTSBURGH.

Railroad Brakeman is Charged With Assaulting Conductor's Nine-Year-Old Daughter.

GREENSBURG, PA., July 30.—(Special.)—Charged with having assaulted Mary Suttlemeyer, the nine-year-old daughter of Conductor David Suttlemeyer, of Youngwood, Harry Mulhellan, a Pennsylvania railroad brakeman, was lodged in jail here this afternoon. Mulhellan is alleged to have assaulted the girl in the grounds of the Westmoreland Agricultural society.

When found by a train crew the girl was unconscious, and a posse of several hundred railroaders searched the big coke yards at Youngwood for the offender. He was not found, and a warrant for his arrest was sworn out and given to constable Thomas O'Brien of Youngwood. Mulhellan was arrested in the Pennsylvania yards in Pittsburgh. The girl is said to be in a critical condition. Mulhellan denies that he is guilty of the charge, but was unable to explain his flight from Youngwood.

Twice Attempted Suicide.

MONONGAHELA, PA., July 30.—Philip Deschert, aged 25, a window glass worker, tried to end his life today by hanging himself under the direction of a fellow-workman. Conductor T. J. Hagan severed the man from the rafts. Deschert was arrested this afternoon on a charge of deserting his wife. He was visited in his cell by Mayor Hartley and Chief of Police Grasinger, who found him standing on the cot with his suspenders looped around his neck and one end tied to the ceiling. He pumped off when he saw the officials and the suspenders broke, saving his life.

FELS-NAPTHA
We say, of course, we use Fels-Naptha soap—for the clean the dirty wash, dishes, pots pans—everything. The clothes last longer, because we don't rot them with boiling water. We were through by eight o'clock yesterday, and the wash did look beautiful.

HOUR KAUFMANN'S SALE
"THE BIG STORE"

TODAY, the last day of July, 1903, will be written in red letters in the history of "The Big Store." This is stock-adjusting time and there's quite a friendly rivalry among the department managers to see who can show the cleanest stock. On top of this, comes instructions from headquarters to make today's hour-sale the greatest of the year. Thousands and thousands of dollars' worth of seasonable merchandise will, therefore, go on the sacrifice tables today, and find an outlet through this hour sale—in some cases at one-third under regular price, in others at one-half, and in quite a few instances at considerably less than half the early season prices.

Your money will go further today than at any previous hour-sale

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, MO., July 30.—Clarence rrie's ineffectiveness in the box, pled with four errors behind him, and sburgh's timely hitting, gave the Pi- s today's game with the Cardinals the one-sided score of 10 to 4. Barring bad inning, Leever, who pitched for the tes, went the entire distance at top speed had the Cardinals guessing throughout. r the first six innings the locals were ked and seemed totally mystified by the ir curves of the Goshen schoolmaster. In seventh period, however, the locals seemed ddenly regain their batting eyes, and they ded Leever for four hits, including a home and three-bagger. This little willow-wield- exhibition netted the Cardinals four runs, ney got throughout the contest. On the hand, Clarence Currie's fanders seemed picking for the Smoky city tribe. Any a hit was needed for a run, some Pirate s sure to make the desired connection. Be- being touched up pretty lively, Currie med as unable to locate the plate as the cher on the Bloomer girls' club. In all he e six free passes to first to the Pirates. e of these passes were put in the seventh ing.

This generosity of Currie in the seventh, ples with an error by him and Burke, gave Pittsburgh four runs and a lead in the game that was unsurmountable. In the field the Pittsburgh team played a strong, clean game, while their work was not marked by as many sensational plays as was the work of Donovan's men, they did not fall down on any easy chances. Although the Cardinals were badly routed the usual thrills were not lacking.

In the fourth inning Claude Ritchey met one of Currie's curves just where he wanted it. He clouted the ball on a line between right and center fields. Ritchey put all his weight be- hind the drive and the ball was traveling at record-breaking speed for the fence. Donovan shot out of his position the moment the ball was hit in a desperate attempt to run down the stretch. For awhile it looked like a futile chase for Donovan, but by a last supreme ef- fort the Cardinal captain, by a lurch that landed him on his face, managed to get the ball and grasped it with his gloved hand. In complet- ing the catch Donovan rolled over in the dirt twice, but he held on to the ball. The catch was sensational and gave the local fans one of their few chances for applause.

Dave Brain also added to the thrills by two daring stops. Both of Brain's clever plays came in the same inning, the fifth. Hans Lauer sent a grounder toward Brain that had all the ear-marks of a single. Just as the ball was getting ready to clear the infield Brain batted in and scooped it up with his bare hand in time to retire Hauer on first base. At first A moment later Brain went over second base and with his gloved hand robbed Brans- field of a hit.

The game was much enlivened by the heavy hitting of both sides. In the second inning Leach clouted the sphere for four bases. Far- rell turned the home-run trick in the seventh inning. Hauer on first, Schreiber's rap was far harder than Leach's, the ball being pasted to the bulletin board, while Leach's home run was the result of Donovan's despe- rate effort to cut off a single.

Leading a single, Ritchey's sacrifice hit and singles by Kruger and Beaumont gave the Pirates two runs in the second inning. Leach made the circuit of the bases in the third on his clever bunt single. Donovan and Burke both sides were blanketed in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings. In the seventh period errors by Currie and Burke, three free passes to first and Beaumont's single gave the visitors four more runs.

The Cardinals broke through the canvas in the seventh inning and scored four tallies on singles by Barclay and Burke, Meckett's three- base drive and Farrell's home run. Sebring's triple, a base on balls to Bransfield, Farrell's error and Ritchey's triple gave the Pirates the last three runs of the game.

HANDBALL ELECTION.

Rafferty Chosen Captain of the Wood- lake Team.

The annual election of the Woodlake handball team was held yesterday. The first office to be filled was that of manager, which was again filled by A. G. Saxman, who has held the posi- tion for the last six years, with not a vote cast against him. Buerger refused the captaincy, claiming it was impossible for him to attend to the duties of the position. Rafferty was then elected. The team has lost the services of Wixnog, who has become professional, and to make up this loss has engaged both Rafferty and Yaernal, who are both experts of the great Irish pastime, and should show up well in all the coming games, as they are both in playing condition.

PLUNDER COMES FROM OHIO TOWN

Box of Stolen Goods Sent from Youngstown to Man Under Arrest.

ANOTHER OAKLAND SUSPECT

Police Arrest an East End Man, but Doubt That He Is Connected With the Recent Robberies—Gang May Have Many Branches.

Youngstown, O., finds itself deeply interested in the Oakland robbers. A large box, consigned to James Henderson, one of the men arrested on suspicion of committing the Oakland burglaries, arrived from Youngstown yesterday. When opened at police headquarters it was found to contain $50 worth of razors and toilet articles which had evidently been stolen from a drug store.

Paul Thompson, a brother-in-law of Henry Walker, No. 6463 Aurelia street, was arrested yesterday by Officer James Noon on suspicion of being implicated in the robberies. His room was searched, but nothing incriminating was found, and it is believed that he was not connected with the gang in the robberies.

Chief of Police William McDowell of Youngstown visited the Oakland police station last evening and loked over the display of stolen articles which were recovered from the Walker brothers and Henderson. He said that he could not identify any of the articles, but would bring down tomorrow some of the people who had articles stolen from their places of business in Youngstown. A general store was robbed in Youngstown, and it is believed that the tooth brushes, revolvers and jewelry which the police have were stolen there and sent to the robbers here for disposal.

When Henderson was searched the addresses of two men were found on him and they have been sent to the Youngstown police, where the men live. The Youngstown robberies explain the appearance of so many articles in the police's collection, which have not been stolen in the Oakland district.

Oren Tanner, an electrician, who boards with Edward DeHahn at No. 2632 Fifth avenue, called at the station house last night and identified a pair of pliers and a dime savings bank as articles stolen from the store of DeHahn when it was robbed early in July.

Henry Lindsay, 38 years old, of Forty-third street, and Thomas Kaylor, 37 years old, of No. 4733 Butler street, are under arrest as suspicious persons. They may have been working the Oakland district, using schemes to obtain entrances to houses, and taking what they could. Lindsay and Kaylor were acting suspiciously yesterday about Craig and Forbes streets, and were arrested.

LINEMEN HAVE TROUBLE.

Non-Union Worker Knocked Down and Rendered Unconscious Four Hours.

William Burns of No. 3040 Penn avenue, a non-union lineman, working for the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company, was struck by some person said to be D. D. McKay, a striker, and also a lineman, at noon yesterday.

The trouble occurred at Sixth avenue and Grant street. Burns was taken unaware, and the blow felled him. His head striking the curb rendering him unconscious. He was taken to the Homeopathic hospital, where he was revived after four hours, and his wound was found to be not serious. McKay was arrested as a suspicious person. A charge of drunkenness was lodged against Burns.

Money Made Him Demented.

John Filo, who was found wandering in the streets on the South Side yesterday morning in a demented condition, was identified by his wife yesterday afternoon at the Central police station. Filo left home at Braddock Saturday and was not seen or heard of until he was found yesterday. His wife was taken to her husband's cell and he failed to recognize her. Filo will be turned over to his family today. When found he had $180 and several rings in his possession. It is said he became demented over money matters.

THREE ARE DEAD; TWO PROSTRATED

Humid Atmosphere Continues to Cause Fatalities and Suffering in This Vcinity.

TWO CHILDREN SUCCUMB

Great Rise in Temperature Was Checked by Showers During the Morning—Forecast for August Shows Much Cloudy Weather and Some Rain.

More deaths and prostrations resulting from the humid weather conditions in and about Pittsburgh were reported yesterday. Although the temperature did not reach such a high mark as on Wednesday, yet the humidity was more severe and residents of this vicinity and workmen in the mills and factories again suffered from the heated atmosphere. There were three deaths and two prostrations caused by heat yesterday, as follows:

THE DEAD.

MRS. ROSA MONJA, aged 74, died of heat exhaustion at her home in Mifflin township.

JOHN CLOSE, a six-months'-old child of John Close, died at the family home in West street, Homestead, of heat exhaustion.

EDNA JOYCE, aged six months, died of heat exhaustion at her home, No. 1190 Ann street, Homestead.

THE PROSTRATED.

CHRISTOPHER REESE, aged 20, was overcome by heat at the Homestead Steel works and fell from a crane, breaking his right arm and receiving severe scalp wounds; taken to West Penn hospital.

JAMES MARTIN, aged 28, of No. 1615 Liberty avenue, overcome at Penn avenue and Twenty-eighth street; taken to his home.

Rain Helped a Little.

From midnight of Wednesday, when the local thermometer was at 73, the indications were that Pittsburgh would again suffer from hot weather yesterday. When the mercury began to climb a sudden fall of rain kept the temperature down to 75 till noon. After that hour it rose rapidly and by 4 o'clock, the maximum was 4 degrees lower than the maximum of Wednesday. The minimum was 72, and it was registered at 1 o'clock in the morning. The rainfall during yesterday measured .06 of an inch.

During Wednesday night and early yesterday morning the atmosphere was so close that it was almost impossible to sleep. These conditions, prevailing for several days past, brought about such a physical condition that many people have been unable to withstand the humid weather and deaths and prostrations resulted. The humidity last evening was 57 per cent, and this caused many people to leave their homes in search of fresh air, in spite of the possibility of rain, which was predicted by the weather observer for Pittsburgh.

Much Hotter Elsewhere.

There was little rain in the west and south yesterday, and in the cities throughout these sections the temperature continued high during the day. Many places reported temperatures above 90 degrees. El Paso, Tex., last night reported a maximum of 102 degrees. The forecast of the Washington weather observer for Pittsburgh and vicinity today is for showers and for tomorrow fair weather conditions. At sunset last evening the weather was clear.

The prospects for good weather conditions during next month are not very bright, as shown by the report compiled and issued by the local weather office yesterday. The local forecast for this section is made up from the records of the weather during the past 32 years. The report shows that the normal temperature for August is 73 degrees and the average rainfall 3.10 inches. The average number of days on which there was rain was 9, and the greatest rainfall during any August in 32 years was 7.26 inches, in 1888. The greatest amount of precipitation in 24 consecutive hours was 3.65 inches. The highest temperature was 100 degrees, on August 6, 1881. The average number of clear days was 10; partly cloudy days, 14, and cloudy days, 7. The highest wind velocity of the month had a velocity of 36 miles an hour and occurred August 4, 1888.

Seven New Smallpox Cases.

The following cases of smallpox were reported yesterday: Charles M. Harris, aged 3 months, No. 2231 Wylie avenue; Louis Brumm, 32 years, No. 613 Herron avenue; Walter Shenkel, 9 years, No. 1907 Mary street; Edward Jenkins, 11 years, No. 3310 Brereton avenue; Anthony Bugay, 20 years, No. 318 Hancock street; Frances Toomey, 15 years, No. 66 Crawford street; Clara F. Schell, 10 months, rear No. 7 Herman street.

PERSONALS

P. Brossette of Lyons, France, is staying at the Duquesne hotel. He is here on a tour of inspection of the various industries in this country. Mr. Brossette is engaged in importing and exporting metals, principally copper and tin. Speaking of France, he said: "There is more or less excitement still prevailing in France over the expulsion of religious orders. There are two factions in the republic, one called the anti-clerical and the other the clerical. These two factions have caused business in France to become practically at a standstill. The agreement made between the pope and Napoleon I. gives the clerical faction the control of the institutions of learning. But the modification of the agreement made four years ago, which was only put into effect this year, has placed the country in a turmoil. Many of the teachers have gone to Spain and Belgium, especially those formerly residing in South France, known as the Alps or Carmelites. Another detriment to the prosperity of France is the closed door of America. France can, and often does, manufacture more products than it can consume. Especially is this true in regard to textiles and steel products. At one time America depended on France almost entirely for fabrics, but now America can almost produces sufficient for its own consumption." Mr. Brossette will visit the Carnegie works today and the Westinghouse interests tomorrow. He will remain in Pittsburgh several days, when he will go west.

J. C. Hayden and wife of San Jose, Costa Rica, after spending a few days at the Duquesne hotel, left last night for New York over the Pennsylvania railroad. Before leaving Mr. Hayden spoke entertainingly of the conditions existing in his country. He is not merely a resident of Virginia, and 18 years ago left for Central America. For the last three years he has been in Costa Rica, building a railroad 132 miles long for the United Fruit Company. He said: "The United Fruit Company controls several ports. From 12 to 15 steamers leave Fort Limon for the United States every week. On each vessel there are from 34,000 to 40,000 bunches of bananas and other kinds of fruit. America consumes more bananas than any other country in the world. More rain falls in Costa Rica than any other place. Scarcely a day passes without rain. An ordinary shower in Costa Rica would be considered a terrible storm in America. I have seen rivers rise 32 feet in one hour. The temperature ranges from 60 to 120 degrees. The last census gave the population as 265,000. Of this number 80 per cent are foreigners, principally West Indies negroes, who comprise the laborers. Peonage is practiced to some extent. The country has adopted the gold standard, the first to take such action in Central America. The president, in order to uphold the government, decided to tax 1 cent a bunch for all bananas exported. The United States Fruit Company agreed to pay all the coast employes in gold provided the tax on labor be eliminated, which was done. One dollar of American money is worth $2.15 of Costa Rica currency."

G. L. T. Mynich of New York passed through the city last night on the Pennsylvania limited. He has been appointed vice president of the Chicago Telephone company, and is now on his way to take charge of the office. He recently returned from a trip to Europe, Asia and Africa. Mr. Mynich was in Macedonia while Miss Ellen Stone was held a captive. He was arrested at Beinoot and kept a prisoner for 14 days. The officials said they were quarantining him. He was with William T. Stead, editor of the Review of Reviews, who was also arrested. Mr. Mynich was inspecting the various railroads throughout those countries in the interest of the company.

Samuel Harden Church, assistant secretary of the Pennsylvania Company and secretary of the Carnegie Institute, will sail tomorrow on the Kronland from New York. He will spend about a month on the continent and the rest of the six weeks' trip will be devoted to England and Scotland.

Lee K. St. Clair, general agent of the Equitable Life Insurance Company of Iowa, has been summoned to the bedside of his stepfather, Stephen Carpenter of Morgantown, W. Va., who is lying dangerously ill at Dedham, Iowa.

FIVE THOUSAND WENT TO ATLANTIC CITY

Pennsylvania Railroad Took Eleven Trainloads of Seashore Excursionists.

About 5,000 persons left Pittsburgh yesterday over the Pennsylvania railroad for Atlantic City. The travel broke all previous records this season, and equaled the best date of last year.

Four special trains were run yesterday morning, two in the afternoon and five last evening. It required 92 cars to handle the passengers. Of this number 36 were day coaches, 18 Pullman parlor cars and 38 sleepers.

It was roughly estimated that the receipts of the Pennsylvania railroad and the Pullman company was over $60,000. The travel surprised even the railroad officials. The weather was unfavorable yesterday morning, but despite that fact the excursion was a great success.

CAPT. FAWCETT STRICKEN.

East End Coal Operator Paralyzed at Bemus Point, Chautauqua.

Capt. Thomas Fawcett of No. 5721 Howe street was stricken with apoplexy last Monday afternoon at the Lenhart hotel, Bemus Point, Lake Chautauqua, N. Y. He has been there for several weeks spending the summer. An attack of acute indigestion brought on paralysis, which has left his right side entirely useless and deprived him of his speech. Dr. William S. Foster of No. 252 Shady avenue, East End, returned yesterday from a consultation with doctors at Bemus Point. Capt. Fawcett's condition is critical. A telegram from the family yesterday stated that he was failing.

Capt. Fawcett was one of the best-known river coal operators. Up to a few years ago his holdings were greater than any other single coal mine owner. About 18 years ago he failed for about $2,000,000, but later recovered a large share of his lost wealth by successful coal deals. There are six children and many grandchildren of Capt. Fawcett living. The children are James, Thomas, Jr., Louis, Mrs. Henry Lloyd and Mrs. William Watt of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Hartley of Tarentum. The members of the family are all at his bedside, having been summoned from Pittsburgh and Atlantic City, where some of them were spending the summer.

WAGE SCALE ADJUSTED.

Molders and Manufacturers Met Yesterday and Reached an Agreement.

The trouble between the molders and the manufacturers was adjusted yesterday at a conference in the Lewis block. The men were getting $3 a day, and demanded an increase of 30 cents.

The agreement stipulates that all disputes must be settled in accordance with the New York agreement. The minimum rate of wages is fixed at $3 for journeymen molders and coremakers. If at a national conference between the National Founders' association and the Iron Molders' Union of North America the minimum rate of wages of coremakers be fixed at a lower rate than $3, then the contract shall be changed to that rate.

An advance of 10 cents a day is given all molders and coremakers, dating from July 1. The agreement will remain in force until July 1 of next year, unless the two national associations agree upon a general change.

MACHINISTS SANGUINE.

Strike at Westinghouse Machine Co.'s Plant Becoming More Effective.

The striking machinists of the Westinghouse Machine Company are sanguine of success. The number of strikers were increased yesterday by machinists, not in the organization, and laborers, coming out in sympathy.

Stuart Simpson, business agent, said last night: "There are 58 motors operated to run the machinery at the plant. Of this number only two were working yesterday. All our members are out and as many more not in the organization are striking in sympathy. We are confident of winning, and think the company will agree to the advance within the next few days."

SCALES ADJUSTED.

Flintworkers Meet Manufacturers and Fix Prices for Coming Fire.

Rowe of the Flint Glass Workers' union has returned from Star Island, Mich., where conferences were held with the manufacturers on the wage scale for the coming fire, which begins Tuesday. Scales were signed for the castor place, molders, punch tumblers and stem ware, iron mold, shade and globe and pressed ware departments.

A conference will be held in Atlantic City, August 7, to adjust the scale of the machine jar and bottle departments. At Philadelphia, August 10, a conference will be held to fix the scale for the stopper department.

E. G. Caughey Takes His Position in the Standard Steel Car Company.

Peter F. McCool, the general manager of the Standard Steel Car Company at Butler, yesterday tendered his resignation. He will be succeeded by E. G. Caughey, who for the past few months has been at Butler as assistant manager of works. Previous to the formation of the Standard Company Mr. Caughey was with the Pressed Steel Car Company as assistant chief engineer, and went with the new company at the time it was formed as chief engineer. He is a graduate of the Massachusetts polytechnic, and his long experience in the steel car business makes him an especially well qualified man for the position.

Mr. McCool will devote his entire time to the Butler Foundry & Machine Company, a new venture for Butler, in which he is largely interested financially.

MAY PREVENT LOCKOUT.

Contractors and Employes Will Meet Tonight to Consider Settlement.

The trouble between the Building Trades council, composed of labor organizations, and the Builders' Exchange league, made up of contractors, will likely be adjusted at a meeting to be held tonight. A conference between the committees of council and the league will be held to discuss the differences involved.

The trouble, which arose over the contractors refusing to sign the hoisting engineers' scale, was increased yesterday when the stone contractors stopped all their work. The league has threatened to stop all building operations unless the trouble is adjusted by tomorrow morning.

One Tramp May Be a Deserter.

Six men were arrested yesterday morning in a boxcar on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad. They said they were trying to secure free passage to the west. Five of them were discharged from No. 7 police station, but the sixth, John Sullivan, was retained, as he wore blue military trousers and it is thought he may have deserted from the army. An investigation of his case is being made.

ALIBI IS UPSET IN MURDER TRIAL

New Evidence Has Developed Against Alleged Assassins of Marcum.

THE DEFENSE IS DUMBFOUNDED

Belief That Friends of Jett and White Have Been Trying to Tamper With the Witnesses for Commonwealth—May Impeach Testimony.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CYNTHIANA, KY., July 30.—The alibi set forth by the defense in the trials of Jett and White for the assassination of J. B. Marcum, was completely upset by the commonwealth today, which produced new and startling evidence, not only corroborating E. J. Ewen and other witnesses, but strengthening the theory of a conspiracy. It was clearly proved that Curtis Jett was in the courthouse at the time of the murder and that at a signal he followed Thomas White, who left the court house first and attracted Marcum's attention while Jett fired from behind. The Hargis faction was dumbfounded by the revelations. There is evidence that the defense has been trying to tamper with witnesses.

By the testimony of County Attorney W. H. Blanton it was shown that Marcum was a marked man and that an attempt had been made once before to get him to the court house. Barney Schiff, a traveling man, who was at Jackson at the time, gave damaging evidence this afternoon. John Bays gave evidence as to seeing Jett, which contradicts the story told by the sister of Hargis in trying to establish an alibi at the first trial.

Kelly Kash swore he saw Jett standing at the side door of the court house immediately after the shooting. Later he saw him join White. The defense had arranged to show that there was a trap door in the court house by which the assassin might have escaped. However, there is proof that this door had been nailed down for months preceding the murder and until after the trial.

Henry Freeman, an important witness at the first trial, was troubled with a bad memory and the state alleges that he has been tampered with.

The Hargis faction is considerably worked up by the day's developments. It is said steps have already been set on foot to impeach the testimony offered today.

KING TRAVELED BY MOTOR.

Edward and Alexandra Visited Some of the Moat Regions of Ireland.

GALWAY, July 30.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra continued by motor today their inspection of some of the wildest and most picturesque regions of Ireland. The start was made from the little town of Leenane, on the shore of Killary bay.

The royal party drove off in motors through the beautiful lake and mountain country, everywhere greeted loyally by the inhabitants, many of whom had journeyed across the mountains to catch a sight of them. The motor journey ended at recess, where the party had luncheon. Their majesties then took a train for Galway and arrived here late in the afternoon. They met with an enthusiastic reception.

NEW TRUST COMPANY...

International Savings Will Apply for a Charter Next Week.

Application for a charter for the International Savings and Trust Company will be made on August 7, before Gov. Pennypacker, by the incorporators who are W. B. Lupton, Homer J. Lindsay, J. H. White, W. H. Ewing, T. A. Dye, A. W. Tenant, Charles A. Muehlbronner, Max Rosen and Louis Moeser. The company was organized some time ago to do a general title buelness in this city. The capital stock will be $250,000. No one will be allowed to take more than $1,200 worth of stock, which will make the concern primarily one for the middle classes.

The company proposes to take over a number of building and loan associations. Many of the stockholders are interested in such concerns and a merger is expected to be made of some of the largest in Western Pennsylvania.

In addition to insuring titles to property a general banking and trust business will be conducted.

A FLESH-FORMING FOOD.

If Mi-o-na Does Not Build Up Good, Healthy Flesh Schilling Bros. Co. Will Return Your Money.

Of all the remedies in Schilling Bros. Co.'s popular drug store, there are very few they are willing to sell with a guarantee to refund the money if they do not give satisfaction.

Mi-o-na, the famous flesh-forming food and cure for stomach troubles, has done such wonders among their customers that Schilling Bros. Co. are now advertising "If Mi-o-na does not give a noticeable gain in weight, if it fails to cure indigestion and all stomach troubles, come back to their store and get your money."

Anyone who has been losing flesh or who has always been too thin, should use Mi-o-na. Thinness and emaciation are signs that the food is not properly assimilated and that you do not get the nourishment you should.

Mi-o-na, minutes with the food you eat, aids its assimilation, tones up and strengthens the digestive organs, and puts the whole system in proper physical condition; it saves the digestive organs from exhaustive work. By its use the elements needed to put flesh on your bones will be selected from the food, and each day will show a noticeable gain in weight.

Commence the use of Mi-o-na today at their risk. If it increases your weight and cures you of indigestion, it will cost you 50 cents, if it does not, Schilling Bros. & Co., will pay for the treatment themselves and return your money to you.

SALE RAPIDLY INCREASING.

Mi-o-na, the Flesh Forming Food, Increasing the Weight of Schilling Bros. Co. Customers.

One of the greatest successes of late years has been achieved by Mi-o-na, the remarkable flesh-forming food. Its sale here in their store is increasing so rapidly that Schilling Bros. Co., the enterprising druggists who introduced it, are having hard work to keep it on hand.

Have Schilling Bros. Co. sign this bond when you buy a box of Mi-o-na:

GUARANTEE BOND.

We hereby agree to refund the price paid for Mi-o-na, if the purchaser tells us that it has not increased flesh and given freedom from stomach troubles.

Signed.....

It has become very popular with well-known bankers, ministers, lawyers and others, whose business or profession prevents their taking much exercise, while those who have been troubled with indigestion, mal-assimilation of food and loss of flesh, brought on by irregular eating, worrying or other causes, have found health and strength in this reliable remedy.

Mi-o-na has been so uniformly successful in building up good, solid, healthy flesh, and in curing all stomach troubles, that Schilling Bros. Co. sell it under their positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of Mi-o-na.

BE YOUR OWN JUDGE.

Mi-o-na Costs You Nothing, If It Does Not Cure, Says Schilling Bros. Co.

Mi-o-na, the remarkable flesh-forming food and cure for dyspepsia, has won fame the unusual way in which it is sold. It is the only remedy offered for the cure of dyspepsia which costs the user absolutely nothing unless it cures.

Schilling Bros. Co., the popular druggists, are selling a great many packages of Mi-o-na and with every box is given their personal guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na does not give satisfaction, you to be your own judge as to whether the remedy helps or not.

Mi-o-na is an unusual combination; it is a flesh-forming food combined with agents that regulate the digestive organs and remove irritation, congestion and inflammation from the stomach, liver and intestines. It enables those organs to extract from the food all that goes to make good, rich blood, firm muscle, healthy nerves and solid flesh. It does not contain any pepsin, pancreatin or other drugs, that never effect a cure and rarely give even temporary relief.

Mi-o-na puts the digestive system into proper working order, gives health, strength and good flesh, and is the natural cure for indigestion. Even in chronic cases, where life is one long drawn out pain, this remedy will effect a cure. It is the simples and most reliable of all remedies. Just one tablet before or after meals and you can eat a hearty meal without distress.

If Mi-o-na does not do all that is claimed for it, Schilling Bros. Co. will cheerfully refund your money.

KNOWS MI-O-NA WILL DO GOOD

Schilling Bros. Co. Have Such Faith in This Remarkable Flesh-Forming Food That They Sell It Under Guarantee.

It is an unusual thing for a druggist to sell a medicine under a guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction, yet this is the way Schilling Bros. Co., whose word is as good as their bond, are selling Mi-o-na, the remarkable flesh-forming food and cure for dyspepsia.

Never before have they had so large a number of customers tell them that a medicine has cured, as since they began selling Mi-o-na.

There is no longer any need of anyone's suffering or making their friends suffer because of stomach trouble or distressing thinness.

Mi-o-na can be relied upon to regulate and strengthen the digestive organs and to build up good, solid, beautiful flesh. Schilling Bros. Co. take all the risk by selling this preparation under a guarantee to return the money, if it does not give satisfaction. They will sign an agreement to this effect, and take your word as to whether Mi-o-na cures or not.

Headaches, all forms of indigestion, specks before the eyes, dizzy feeling, ringing in the ears, all forms of liver troubles, emaciation, and general rundown conditions are cured by Mi-o-na. A few days' treatment shows a considerable gain in health, and a cure speedily follows.

Now is the best time in the whole year for the enjoyment of good health. Use Mi-o-na and you will soon be in such perfect condition that you can enjoy every minute.

STOCKS SOLD OFF AND THEN RALLIED

Atchison Led the Decline in the Railroads—Industrials Were Weak—Local Market Averaged Lower.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

For four hours yesterday the tone of the eastern stock market was heavy and the volume of business, except in a few specialties, was light. London prices came higher, but foreigners were sellers, and the initial prices here were about the highest of the day. The weakest stock among the railroads was Atchison, which sold down to 61½, the lowest for more than three and a half years. The weakness was in the face of a semi-official statement that the company had $12,000,000 cash on hand and was not contemplating a bond issue or the borrowing of money. About 70,000 shares of stock came upon the market, and after the pressure was relieved the price rallied to and closed at 62¾, a net decline for the day of 1¼ per cent. Probably no other stock on the list would have withstood such heavy selling and shown so small a net loss. In the absence of any plausible explanation for the selling, the street was left to conjecture, and the most popular theory appeared to be that some pool was being forced to liquidate. It has been the popular impression that for two years past there has been a pool in the stock in Philadelphia. The Philadelphia stock market was weak for some of its specialties, owing to the failure of the Doylestown National bank of Doylestown, Pa., and the statement of the comptroller that the embarrassment was caused by speculation in stocks by some of its officers and customers. One of the directors was quoted as saying that the speculations were connected with the Consolidated Lake Superior stocks, and the latter declined to the lowest prices ever quoted in the Philadelphi market. Wall street sought to find a connection between this incident and the liquidation in Atchison stock, and it was the opinion of the street that the Philadelphia pool in Atchison was liquidating.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

The weakness in Atchison has a sympathetic effect upon the other grangers. Rock Island declined from 25 to 23¾ and the preferred from 64 to 63. Missouri Pacific declined 1¾ per cent to 97¼, and St. Paul from 142¼ to 140¾. Southern Pacific declined from 44¾ to 43½, and Union Pacific from 76 to 74¼. Pennsylvania declined from 124⅝ to 123, and New York Central from 121¾ to 119¾. Readings and Eries were fractionally lower. In the industrial list United States Steel held up well during the early part of the day, but later the common declined to 23⅜ and the preferred to 71½. Amalgamated Copper broke 2¼ per cent to 40. Colorado Fuel & Iron was very erratic, opening at 46, breaking to 41 and recovering to 45. Realty Construction was weak, the common declining to 9 and the preferred selling at 4 points to 45½. American Cotton Oil declined 2 per cent to 28. In the closing hour the entire list rallied and much of the early loss was recovered. A factor in the advance was the reports of rain in the corn belt where most needed, and the decline in the Chicago grain market. New York Central rallied to 121¼, Pennsylvania to 123½, and St. Paul to 141¼. Rock Island common recovered to 24 and Southern Pacific to 44. Amalgamated Copper advanced to 41¼, United States Steel common to 24 and the preferred to 72¼. Among the specialties Evansville & Terre Haute broke to 51, a decline of 10 per cent compared with the closing bid on Wednesday. The transactions for the day reached only 458,000 shares.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

There was little or no change in the money market. Call loan rates remained easy at about 2 per cent, and time loans were offered at the decline noted yesterday. Tomorrow's bank statement is expected to show a large reduction in loans, and if the shipments of currency from Pittsburgh may be taken as a criterion, the New York banks should show a large increase in cash. The foreign bank statements made yesterday were less favorable than for the previous week, the Bank of England reporting an increase of nearly $8,000,000 in loans and a considerable decrease in the percentage of reserve to liability. The Bank of France reported a decrease of about $2,500,000 in bills discounted and a slight loss in gold.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

Reports issued yesterday of railroad earnings for the third week in July were uniformly favorable. Missouri Pacific increased $100,000, Louisville & Nashville $79,045, Mexican Central $75,220, Norfolk & Western $73,000, Wabash $63,000, and Grand Trunk $149,615. These various systems cover a wide scope of territory, and prove that the distribution of commodities is not confined to any particular section. The gains are all the more noteworthy when the fact is borne in mind that the comparisons are with periods and figures which showed large increases for three consecutive years.

In the local stock market yesterday prices averaged lower, although the net changes were not large. More than a third of the total dealings consisted of United States Steel. The common stock sold off from 24½ to 23¾ and recovered to 24. The preferred declined from 72¾ to 72, and closed at 72 bid, a net loss for the day of ⅝ per cent. The buying of these stocks during the past week has been of a good character, but the market here follows very closely the fluctuations in the east. Crucible Steel stocks were very dull yesterday, less than 400 shares of the common and only 20 shares of the preferred changing hands all day. The common closed at 12 and the preferred at 75, both being unchanged. Pittsburgh Coal was active and firmer, the common advancing to 27 sales and bid at the close. The preferred was dull but a fraction higher, selling at 84½ and closing at 84¼ bid. Ohio Fuel asked. Eleven Coal stocks unchanged at 10¼ for the common and 38½ for the preferred. Manufacturers' Light & Heat was moderately active, declining from 35½ to 34¾ and closing at 34¾ bid. Ohio Fuel Supply was unchanged at 40. There were no transactions in Philadelphia Company, the stock closing unchanged at 40 asked. Fire Proofing and Brewing stocks were dull and unchanged. Westinghouse Electric was weak, at one time selling down to 84½ from 85¾, and closing at 84½ bid. Airbrake was also lower at 154, and the stock closed offered at that price.

There was a little more doing in the bank and trust company stocks, but prices were irregular. Just before the close Allegheny Trust advanced 5 per cent to 150 sales bid. Exchange National bank advanced 4 points to 99, and Fifth City Trust was 2 per cent higher at 147. The rest of the list was weak. Federal National bank declined to 158, but recovered to 160 at the close. Real Estate Trust declined to 279, Home Trust to 137 and German American Savings & Trust to 157½. Merchants Savings & Trust was unchanged at 65. American Trust was offered down to 460 and Colonial Trust to 530, and both closed without bids. There were no quotations on Farmers Deposit National Bank stock. Commonwealth Trust was lower at 225 asked and Guarantee Title & Trust at 200 asked, and both closed without bids. In the bond list Pittsburgh Brewing 6s advanced to 110¾, and closed at 110½ bid, 111½ asked. Philadelphia Company 5s were offered at 110, and River Coal 6s were in fair demand at 113½ bid.

State Deposits Called In.

The official notice sent out by State Treasurer Harris last night, notifying state depositories that within the next three or four months it may be necessary to withdraw a large portion of the state's deposits, will be unwelcome news to brokers and traders who have been looking forward to an easing of the local money market as a condition precedent to improvement in the stock market. The total amount on deposit is something like $7,000,000. While withdrawals will be gradual, and ample notice is given for preparations to meet the drain, the latter will come at an inopportune time.

Poor Philadelphia.

In the Philadelphia market yesterday Consolidated Lake Superior common sold down to 1⅞, and the preferred to 5, the lowest prices ever quoted. Two years ago the common sold above 38 and the preferred above 80, and less than a year ago the common sold above 28 and the preferred above 55. The movement attracted some local interest and closed in a semi-uniformistic speculations and investments in the City of Brotherly Love. Asphalt, Marsden and Lake Superior have been responsible for losses to Philadelphians amounting to many millions. A Philadelphia banker who was in Pittsburgh the other day said that $40,000,000 cash would not cover the losses of Philadelphians in the last three or four years in specialties dominated by Clarence H. Clark. The local interest in the situation centers upon the possible effect upon Philadelphia Company stock. The latter was taken up by the Philadelphians about three years ago, the price this week declined to the lowest since the latter part of 1900. It is about $10 a share lower than at the corresponding date a year ago, and $15 a share below the high point reached in 1901 when the Philadelphians were increasing their holdings of the stock. It is thought that a portion of the recent decline has been due to liquidation by those who, in order to take care of less desirable securities.

The Market a Disappointment.

The eastern stock market yesterday was a disappointment to the general run of traders. Most of the private wire advices before the opening predicted higher prices, in the way of discounting a favorable bank statement tomorrow, but the course of the market was almost uninterruptedly downward until 2 o'clock. The weakness in Atchison and Amalgamated Copper were the dominating influences. The late rally, however, wiped out a considerable portion of the early losses. It is quite likely that there will be many markets pretty much like yesterday's during the next two months. Rallies will be taken advantage of to liquidate stocks that were taken over privately at the close of last week and last Monday by banking interests. It will be impossible to conceal this liquidation from the lynx-eyed professional traders, and the latter will attack the stocks affected. The best commission houses in the east are advising the purchases of investment stocks on all such week spots, but at the same time are suggesting that speculative operations should be conducted on the plan of quick returns and small profits.

American Can Preferred.

American Can preferred, which early in the week sold down to 34, the lowest ever quoted, yesterday sold at 39 and closed at 38 bid, 40 asked. A New York dispatch was received from a prominent Pittsburgh broker stating that a dividend on the preferred stock will be declared September 1. A large amount of this stock was at one time held in Pittsburgh, the buying being by some of the best houses on tips that came from inside sources. The price at one time was above 80 for the preferred and 34 for the common. The latter yesterday closed at 4 bid.

Colonial-American Stocks.

The market is gradually adjusting the difference between the value of Colonial and American Trust stocks. Yesterday Colonial was offered at 530 and American at 460, which brings the two to a parity, based upon the announced terms of the deal. There were no stock sales on Farmers Deposit National bank, and no bids or sales of any of these stocks, in the absence of which it is not yet possible to calculate the exact parity of the three.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

On the local board yesterday Hill & Co. were large sellers of United States Steel common and Robinson Bros. and E. D. Gartner were large sellers of the preferred. The largest local buyers were Carothers & Co., Fink, Stevenson, Doty & Sutton and Barbour, Hill & Co. were buyers of 1,000 shares Pittsburgh Coal common, and Whitney & Stephenson were buyers of River Coal from Masten & Co.

Union Switch and Signal 5s were offered on the local board yesterday at 103. There were no bids.

Brewing common and preferred, Crucible Steel common and preferred, and National Fire Proofing common and preferred all closed unchanged yesterday. The dealings were lighter than for some time past.

Westinghouse Electric was quite weak at one time yesterday, declining here to 84¼, following a decline in New York, where the stock sold as low as 83. Later there was a recovery to 85.

Wall street had a report of a decline in Northern pie iron, and cited this as a cause for the decline in United States Steel stocks, inasmuch as United States Steel is a buyer of pig iron and would profit by a decline in price, the argument was scarcely more logical than some others recently made by the "ironmasters of the street."

Marsden sold at 2⅛, an advance of ⅛.

Sterling exchange was weak and lower yesterday, putting gold exports further out of the question.

New York dispatches yesterday stated rather positively that C. M. Schwab would formally retire from the presidency of the United States Steel Corporation on Tuesday next, but would remain on the board of directors. It was also said that he would select his successor, who was likely to be W. E. Corey.

The selling of Realty Construction common and preferred was by a western house, which was identified with the formation of the company.

The eastern money market continued to rule very easy on call, and six months' money could be obtained at 3 per cent on collateral consisting of railroad dividend paying stocks.

A canvass was made of twelve of the leading bond houses in New York City on Tuesday to ascertain if there had been any appreciable increase this week in the demand for investment bonds. Every house stated that there was unquestionably a better feeling in financial circles, but that the demand for bonds was at a standstill. Inquiries have been numerous, but practically no sales resulted. Investors admit that bonds are cheap, but the feeling still is that they are lower, and for that reason withhold their orders.

The annual report of Pacific Mail Steamship Company for the year ending June 30, 1903, has been issued. It shows the following comparisons:

	1903.	1902.	1901.
Gross	$2,827,506	$2,402,346	$3,071,165
Expenses	2,504,402	2,012,499	2,358,176
Net	$323,103	$389,847	$712,989
Deprec. & repairs	314,823	324,782	345,168
Surplus	$8,280	*$307,935	$367,821

*Deficit.

The principal development of interest in the money market situation was the call by J. P. Morgan & Co. of an additional 10 per cent from the members of the Joint Trans-Missouri syndicate on the 5-20 bonds, making a total of 80 per cent called to date. The amount to be paid on this installment is $2,280,000. It is made in connection with the acquisition of the company in the interest of the Atlantic coast line.

In the year 1902 the total distribution to policy holders and their beneficiaries by life insurance companies in the United States exceeded $320,000,000. In the distribution of this sum among the larger cities New York holds first place, $222,000,000 of the total sum having been distributed in that city in 1902. Philadelphia follows the metropolis with a record of receipts of $8,900,000. Chicago holds third place with a record of $6,922,000.
